MARCHERS AGAINST A FEE

Twenty-four students from San Geronimo Valley flash "V" signs at a passing California Highway Patrol car as they march over White's Hill to Sir Francis Drake High School today, walking in protest against a 30-cent school bus fare established by the Tamalpais High School District. Leader Chris McBride said the group has 1,000 student signatures protesting the fare, and will present the petition to the district board at its joint meeting at 8 p.m. today with Bolinas-Stinson School District trustees at Bolinas School. The boards are meeting to discuss the bus fare policy and possible solutions. Bolinas-Stinson Beach students, who also rode free until last week, organized a boycott last Monday, and some students are still boycotting the buses individually, a Stinson Beach parent reported. Speaker's Top Aide Indicted

NEW YORK (AP) — Martin Sweig, suspended senior aide of House Speaker John W. McCormack, and Nathan M. Voloshen, a New York lawyer, were indicted today on criminal conspiracy charges of using the speaker's office in cases pending before government agencies.

A federal grand jury acted after months of digging into allegations of influence peddling in government.

SUSPENDED OCT. 15

Sweig, 46, was suspended by McCormack last Oct. 16 from his job as administrative assistant to the Massachusetts Democrat. Voloshen, 71, has been pictured as a lobbyist and friend of McCormack and Sweig who sought influence through the association.

The indictment was announced by Robert M. Morgenthau, who steps down as U.S. attorney for New York's Southern District Thursday. Morgenthau, a Democrat, has resigned the post under pressure from the Republican administration in Washington. He since has been appointed deputy mayor here by John V. Lindsay, a registered Republican, and will assume the post next month.

The indictment alleged that Voloshen used the "office, telephone, secretarial staff and good will of the Speaker of the House" in approaching various government agencies, including the Bureau of Prisons, U.S. attorney for the District of Columbia and the Securities and Exchange Commission.

The indictment specified activity by Voloshen and Sweig in connection with civil action brought against Parvin-Dohrmann Co. by the SEC.

It cited a $50,000 payment by Parvin-Dohrmann to Voloshen for "services rendered in re SEC."

ARRANGED MEETING

The SEC suit said that when the commission was about to suspend trading of Parvin-Dohrmann stock last May 6, Sweig arranged a meeting in an unsuccessful attempt to lift the suspension.

The SEC continued the suspension until the company issued detailed information about its transactions.

The violations alleged by the SEC included failure to disclose the $50,000 payment to Voloshen and a $500,000 finder's fee paid to a Chicago lawyer, Sidney R. Korshak, in connection with Parvin-Dohrmann's acquisition of the Stardust Hotel in Las Vegas, Nev.

Today's indictment also contained three perjury counts against Voloshen, alleging that he lied in denying that he received certain payments and knew two persons he was questioned about.

Biafra Surrenders As Air Link Falls

Leader Flees, Commander Orders Fighting Stopped

LAGOS, Nigeria (AP) — Biafra surrendered today after fighting 30 months in an effort to enforce secession from Nigeria.

Maj. Gen. Philip Effiong, left in charge in Biafra by Gen. C. Odumegwu Ojukwu, told the nation in a broadcast: "I am convinced now the struggle must be put to an end and stop the bloodshed that is going on . . ."

He said he ordered a disengagement of Biafran army units and asked commanders to stop fighting. He appealed to the Nigerian leader, Maj. Gen. Yakubu Gowon, for an immediate cease-fire.

He said he would apply to federal unit commanders at Biafra's edges for conditions.

Effiong, a 45-year-old member of the Efik minority tribe in Biafra, said: "any question of a government in exile is repudiated by our people."

The surrender broadcast followed the capture by Nigerian federal troops of Uli airstrip, Biafra's last link to the outside world. The strip came under massive air attacks that reduced its roadbed runway to rubble, according to reliable sources in Lagos.

Ojukwu, leader of Biafra in its 32 months of secession from federal Nigeria, fled Sunday for an unknown destination.

The informants in Lagos said that after federal ground troops captured Uli, Soviet-made Ilyushin 28 bombers flown by Egyptians rained 1,000-pound bombs on the jungle airstrip and MIG17s piloted by white mercenaries strafed the strip with cannonfire.

Nevertheless, Joint Church Aid headquarters in Copenhagen, Denmark, said two of its planes were able to land at Uli with 20 tons of food and medicine early today—apparently before the massive air attacks.

Military sources said casualties were heavy among Biafrans who had assembled by the thousands in the area of Uli in hopes of getting out of the enclave, whose secession stemmed from tribal conflict after Nigeria became independent from Britain in 1960.

Biafran regulars continued to resist in the hours before the surrender broadcast.

Federal marine commandos reached Uli Sunday night, after bypassing the nearby town of Oguta, Lagos' informants said.

Ojukwu had fled, saying in a recorded broadcast he was going in search of peace and that he hoped to return soon. Reliable reports said he had taken his family with him.

In the surrender broadcast, Effiong said:

"I have had extensive consultation with leaders of our community, both military and civilian, and I am now convinced that the present bloodshed and suffering must stop."

Effiong said the leaders who had spoken of negotiating—presumably Ojukwu and his advisers—had left and therefore he decided to confer with other leaders to reach his decision.

There was expected to be little resistance to Effiong's capitulation among war-weary Biafrans.

He said, "Our people are now disillusioned."

Immediately afterward, a communique asked police officers to report to specific stations for further instructions.

He said a Biafran negotiating team was prepared to meet a federal team to work out terms of tag surrender.

Crash North Of Marinwood Kills Novatan

A car carrying three family members spun off rain-slick Highway 101 north of Marinwood last night and rolled down an embankment, killing one and injuring two others.

Dead on arrival at Marin General Hospital was Joan E. Yee, 43, co-owner of the Novato Laundry at 849 Sweetzer Street. Her husband, Frank, 54, laundry owner, and son, John, 5, were injured.

The son suffered a fractured collarbone, concussion and cut scalp and was reported in fair condition today at Marin General. Yee suffered a bruised leg and whiplash.

Mrs. Yee, a native of Hong Kong, had lived in California 22 years, the last 10 in Marin. The family home is at 1231 Olive Avenue, Novato.

Funeral arrangements are pending at Keaton's Chapel of Marin in Novato.

Yee told the California Highway Patrol he was northbound on the freeway just north of the Marinwood overpass at 11 p.m. when the car began to spin. He said he applied the brakes and the auto spun off the road and tumbled down an embankment, rolling over twice before landing upright. Both his wife and son were thrown from the car.

The fatality was the first on Marin roads this year. Last year, the first auto death did not occur until Feb. 2.

PETER H. BEHR
Senate candidate

Behr Will Seek State Senate Post

Former Marin Supervisor Peter H. Behr today bared what he termed "the worst kept secret of the new year"—his candidacy for the Republican nomination for the seat held by retiring State Sen. John F. McCarthy, R-San Rafael.

"It is the urgency of the environmental crisis, above all else, that prompts my candidacy," Behr said at a press conference at the Holiday Inn, San Rafael.

"We have talked about ecology long enough," he said. "The time to act is now, or never. We can and must move effectively in this decade to eliminate air and water pollution, to control noise, to establish and preserve open spaces and to increase public access to our beaches and green areas," Behr declared to the applause of about 50 supporters.

Behr thus became the second announced candidate for the seat held for the past 20 years by McCarthy. McCarthy's long-time campaign manager, Raymond H. Shone, declared his own candidacy on Thursday, two days after McCarthy disclosed he would not run again.

Behr also called for extension

Span Board Sets Commute Book Session

Golden Gate Bridge District directors have called an unprecedented special meeting at 10 a.m. Friday to consider repeal of their decision to eliminate commuter books after June.

Directors voted in December to hike the price of the books, as of Dec. 26, from $6.50 to $10 and to eliminate them after June. Commuters have denounced both actions, but Friday's agenda does not include reconsideration of the hike to $10.

San Francisco Supervisor Peter A. Tamaras, a member of the 18-member bridge board, proposed last Friday that the books be retained, but with only 22 tickets, instead of the normal 25, for $10.

Gen. Mgr. Dale W. Luehring said the special meeting was needed to give him time to order July books—if the directors decide to continue using the books.

Luehring strongly recommended on Friday that the books be continued because they save time in handling tolls, thus speeding traffic.

Nixon Names Negro To Be Sweden Envoy

WASHINGTON (AP) — Dr. Jerome H. Holland, an all-American football player and college president—a Negro—was named by President Nixon today to be ambassador to Sweden.

The post has been vacant for the past year.

The President hopes that the appointment of Holland, 54, president of Hampton Institute in Hampton, Va., will contribute to relieving some of the tensions that exist between the United States and Sweden, press secretary Ronald L. Ziegler said.

Sweden has expressed ts opposition to U.S. policies in Vietnam and has been a refuge spot for American citizens opposed to service in that war.

Holland, the fourth Negro Nixon has named to ambassadoral posts, will succeed William W. Heath, who left Sweden last January and whose resignation from the post became effective in February 1969.

Holland has been president of Hampton Institute since 1960. He served previously for seven years as president of Delaware State College in Dover, Del.

Faulty Steel Causes F-111 Fatal Crash

WASHINGTON AP — The Air Force said today a piece of faulty steel in a wing led to the 15th crash of an F111 aircraft last Dec. 22 at Nellis Air Force Base, Nev.

The accident killed two crewmen and led to grounding of all the variable-sweep F111s.

Secretary of the Air Force Robert C. Seamans Jr. said investigation showed the accident was caused by structural failure of the left wing "stemming from a pre-existing defect in the steel used in a pivot fitting where the wing joins the fuselage."

The Air Force said it will inspect its more than 200 F111s to seek whether they have similar defects. Until those inspections are completed, the plan will remain grounded.

It was the second time that a steel defect has caused serious problems in the F111.

Last year the Air Force found in ground tests that a key internal component of the plane referred to as the carrythrough fitting or wing box cracked from fatigue long before it should have. Modifications had to be made at a cost of $80 million to strengthen that component.

Agnew's Entourage Watches Typical Dance Of Indonesia

DENPASAR, Bali, Indonesia (UPI)—Vice President Spiro T. Agnew traveled to the Balinese village of Singapdu today to see a one-hour performance of a typical Barong dance.

Wearing a dark blue polo shirt and slacks, Agnew sat stern-faced as he was hemmed in by hundreds of happy village children who paid more attention to the dancing clowns, witches and princesses than they did to him.

The Indonesian island of Bali is the ninth stop on Agnew's 11-nation Asian goodwill tour. He leaves for Canberra, Australia, Tuesday morning. The last stop will be Auckland, New Zealand, before heading home.

The vice president's wife, Judy, dressed in a cool, lime-green dress, paid close attention to the temple courtyard dance which chronicled the triumph of good over evil.

"It was nice. We enjoyed it," Agnew said at its conclusion.

Later, Mrs. Agnew joined the wife of Indonesian Foreign Minister Adam Malik and wives of local officials for a combination sightseeing and

Students In Big Teacher Shift Protest

ATLANTA, Ga. (AP) — High school pupils marched today in protest of a proposed mass transfer of teachers under a school desegregation plan before the federal courts.

A group of about 300, braving subfreezing weather and icy streets, gathered at the state Capitol where Gov. Lester Maddox told them their demonstration was necessary "because a police state is engulfing the United States of America."

Maddox got into a sound truck, from where he made his speech, and rode around the Capitol in front of the marchers. He returned to his office, but the demonstrators moved through downtown Atlanta to the federal building where a hearing on the school matter was scheduled later in the day.

"It is regrettable that you have to march to protect your schools, lives and property," Maddox told the youngsters. "This is an indictment of the people of my generation who failed to meet their responsibilities to you and who have not had the guts and courage to stand up for God, America and our boys and girls."

The marchers were accompanied by a police escort as they walked slowly through the streets, which were coated with ice.

A scattering of Negroes and a few adluts joined them.

The pupils demonstrated last Friday and student leaders have said that if the court doesn't delay the mass transfers of the teachers beyond the deadline of Feb. 1, they will continue to demonstrate.

Considering the desegregation plan is U.S. District Court Judge Frank Hooper.

Forecasters said a new storm may arrive tonight or tomorrow, with a 40 per cent chance of rain.

Plane Crash Reported In San Pablo Bay

SAN FRANCISCO (UPI) — The Coast Guard said an airplane crashed into San Pablo Bay today and several small boats were reported "retrieving parts of the fuselage."

A Coast Guard spokesman said at 11:50 a.m. the plane went down in the "general vicinity of Hamilton Air Force Base" north of San Francisco.

Controllers at the Oakland International Airport control tower said the plane was a military craft.

Coast Guard planes and helicopters were sent to the scene.

Tribunal Will Hear Rights Of Lawyers

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Supreme Court agreed today to decide whether the states may require prospective lawyers to say whether they belong to subversive organizations and whether they support the Constitution.

Three bar groups and a group of prospective lawyers have claimed in an appeal that the quizzing is a forbidden inquiry into citizens' political associations.

A three-judge court in New York City upheld the challenged New York system last February.

The bar case will be heard this spring. At the same time the court will hear a second round of argument in cases from Arizona and Ohio which challenge the right of state bar committees to ask prospective lawyers whether they belong to organizations dedicated to the government's violent overthrow.

The appeal was made by the Law Students Civil Rights Research Council, the Columbia Law Students Guild, the New York City chapter of the National Lawyers Guild and six prospective lawyers.

They said the questionaires, put by character and fitness committees of the State Supreme Court, force applicants seeking the right to practice in the state "to make unlimited disclosures of their political and personal associations, beliefs, speeches and activities" in violation of the First Amendment.

"Screening programs, such as New York's," the appeal said, "directly threaten the independence of the bar, state and federal, by inhibiting attorneys and prospective attorneys from associating with and representing unpopular groups or causes."

The appeal added: "Perhaps the broadest and most serious public and private consequences of these programs is their effect on the ability of minority and dissident groups to obtain vindication of federal rights in the court.

Disabled Tanker Is Being Towed

SAN FRANCISCO (UPI)—A disabled tanker carrying 14 million gallons of jet fuel moved at a sluggish five knots toward Los Angeles today at the end of tow lines from a heavy duty tugboat and a coast Guard Cutter.

The tug Pacific Mariner was joined Sunday by the cutter Venturous about 170 miles off the Southern California coast. The Coast Guard estimated they would have the tanker S.S. Connecticut back in Los Angeles early Tuesday.

The tanker, with 41 crewmen aboard, reported it was in danger of sinking early Friday in 70 knot winds.

Hiker Crawls To Help Despite Broken Leg

PALMDALE (UPI)—A 26-year-old Lancaster man was in satisfactory condition today after suffering a broken leg in a fall while hiking on 9,500-foot Mt. Baden Powell in the Angeles National Forest.

Authorities said David Richardson broke the leg Saturday and, after fashioning a splint from the limb of a pine tree, made his way painfully through the wilderness. Richardson crawled to within almost a quarter mile of the Angeles Crest Highway.

Equality In Health Care Being Urged

SAN FRANCISCO (UPI)—Participants in a Consumers Health Conference have demanded greater equality in medical services to ensure "one level of health care for all people."

"As physicians we're trained to differentiate between people—between our private patients and those that we deal with on a charity basis," said Dr. John L.S. Holloman of New York.

He stressed the difference in treatment available for those who "can compete on the open market" for health care and those "forced to accept whatever blessed benevolences" they are given.

Holloman charged that medical organizations such as the American Medical Association, American Hospital Association and pharmaceutical companies have a vested interest in keeping things as they are.

He is past president of the National Medical Association, an organization primarily of Negro doctors.

Holloman proposed that community organizations should work toward solving the problem of inequality in health care and said the weekend conference was a "splendid opportunity to learn, organize and act."

Manson Quickly Ends Jail Hunger Strike

LOS ANGELES K(UPI) — Charles Manson, accused mastermind of the seven Tate-LaBianca slayings, skipped breakfast and lunch in a "hunger strike" Sunday but abruptly ended it when dinner was served.

Manson, 35, the bearded leader of a hippie cult implicated in the seven murders, joined other prisoners in his cell block who were protesting the transfer of three prisoners from Central Jail.

Twenty-four inmates refused to eat breakfast, a sheriff's spokesman said, but by midday the hunger strike had narrowed down to eight and only four at dinner.

Two of the men were transferred Friday for creating disturbances and harboring contraband and the third was moved Saturday because he allegedly had been stealing. Two of those transferred are charged with murder and the third is charged with assault with a deadly weapon.

The 31 prisoners housed in the snall cell block with Manson are acting as their own attorneys and have special privileges such as the use of the jail law library and pay telephones.

Manson was authorized to act as his own lawyer and is expected to enter a plea this week to charges of seven counts of murder and conspiracy to murder in the slayings at the homes of actress Sharon Tate and Leno LaBianca last August.

Manson occupies a cell isolated from the others but he is permitted to mingle up to nine hours a day with his fellow inmates in the jail library.

Driver Is Booked After Wrong-Way Highway Crash

A Corte Madera driver was booked on suspicion of felony druken driving early Saturday after a wrong-way crash on Highway 101, north of Richardson Bay Bridge.

California Highway Patrol officers said Jose Luis Lopez, 24, of 435 Mananita Avenue, was driving north on southbound Highway 101 at 12:45 a.m. when it collided with a car driven by Frederick Paul Schwab, 32, of 21 Dolores Street, San Rafael.

Then a southbound car driven by Farr Clarence Kildoff, 27, of 749 34th Avenue, San Francisco, collided with Lopez's car.

Schwab, who suffered unspecified head injuries, was treated at Marin General Hospital.

Lopez, who suffered a scalp cut, was treated at the hospital and then booked at the Marin County jail. He posted $1,200 bail to appear in Marin Municipal Court tomorrow.

WORLD NEWS IN BRIEF

Stalin On TV

MOSCOW (UPI)—The late Josef V. Stalin made two unprecedented filmed appearances on Moscow television Sunday, surprising viewers long used to his status as a forgotten person.

The appearance of the longtime dictator was in line with the new Soviet policy of portraying Stalin as a man who made mistakes but was personally responsible for victory over Nazi invaders.

The occasion for the television shows was the 25th anniversary of the launching of the final Soviet winter offensive on Jan. 11, 1945, which carried the Soviet Army to Berlin and the banks of the Elbe.

One program was directly aimed at the Battle of the Bulge, bolstering Soviet claims that their winter offensive saved encircled American forces in the battle. The other program concerned the liberation of Estonia.

Oil Claims Deposit

RENO, Nev. (UPI)—Billionaire Howard Hughes made a deposit on 119 old Nevada mining claims during the weekend, adding to a collection which now numbers into the hundreds.

The Las Vegas recluse, who also has collected a group of casinos on the Las Vegas strip in recent years, submitted a $500,000 bid to the University of Nevada Board of Regents for claims the school owns in the Tonopah area.

The regents accepted his offer and a $125,000 deposit as a down payment Saturday, but final approval of the sale must come from the courts.

The Tonopah claims were willed to the university in 1967 by Domenico Lambertucci of Tonopah to be "used" by the Mackay School of Mines on the Reno campus. A Lambertucci family member has filed suit, charging that "used" does not include selling the patented and unpatented claims.

McCarthy In Paris

PARIS (UPI)—Sen. Eugene J. McCarthy, just arrived from talks with Soviet leaders, today opened a series of private consultations to include meetings with North Vietnamese peace negotiators.

McMarthy was meeting first with U.S. Ambassador R. Sargent Shriver. Diplomatic sources said he would also confer today or Tuesday with Hanoi officials.

McCarthy arrived from Moscow where he conferred with Premier Alexei N. Kosygin and with a North Vietnamese diplomat in the Soviet capital, presumably to arrange the meeting with Hanoi diplomats in Paris.

The senator denied reports he had presented any list of prisoners of war or servicemen missing in action to the Hanoi representative in Moscow. He said he did not plan to deliver such a list during any talks he might have with the North Vietnamese in Paris.

Asked what he thought he might learn from Hanoi representatives in Paris he did not learn by talking with the North Vietnamese diplomat in Moscow, McCarthy said:

"I don't know whether I learned anything (in Moscow). I didn't ask for anything. The sort of thing I talked about I wouldn't expect there would be any response to for a long time."

150 Whales Die

FORT PIERCE, Fla. (UPI)—About 150 pygmy sperm whales, possibly befuddled by the cold, have beached and died along an eight-mile stretch between here and Vero Beach.

"I'm afraid it's a matter of disposal rather than rescue," said conservation patrol Lt. Ron Purdom after a day-long struggle Sunday to save the midget whales.

Conservation agents, sheriff's deputies, the Coast Guard and a dozen private boats hauled 50 of the whales back to deep water only to have them barge right back to the beach.

"If we saved three out of the bunch, we were lucky," said conservation agent Jerry Rogers.

The whales, ranging in size from six to 12 feet and weighing up to an estimated 1,000 pounds, began their suicidal charge to the beaches Sunday morning. By nightfall, despite repeated rescue attempts, most of the whales had died or were almost dead.

It was the largest whale beaching in recent years, although the beaching of several whales is not uncommon.

VW Sedan Stolen

Sheriff's deputies reported that a Volkswagen sedan stolen from John Morris of 175 Southwood Avenue, San Francisco, was located at 1 p.m. Friday at the end of Great Circle Drive, Strawberry, with the wheels removed.

100 Whales Kill Selves In Florida

FORT PIERCE, Fla. (AP) — More than 100 pilot whales that committed shore-going suicide dotted a 30-mile strip of Florida's eastern beaches today and authorities looked for ways to bury 150,000 pounds of the dead mammals.

"They seemed determined to do away with themselves," said St. Lucie County Administrator Weldon Lewis. "As of now, we have no real idea where they will be buried."

Conservation and Coast Guard workers battled Sunday to change the whales' idea of going ashore where they could not exist for long. Four craft including a Coast Guard cutter continually towed the whales out to sea.

"Their leader must have been hurt or ill," said Jerry Rogers of the Palm Beach office of the Department of Natural Resources. "We even tried running them in circles in the ocean, trying to make them lose direction. They just kept pulling back toward shore. It was hopeless."

The black-skinned whales ranged from 6 to 15 feet in length and weighed an average of 1,500 pounds.

"It became a disposal operation rather than a rescue," said Lt. Ron Purdom, a conservation officer.

LOS ANGELES (AP)—Jockey Alvaro Pineda has been booked in suburban Temple City for investigation of assault with a deadly weapon after his wife said he hit her with a jockey's helmet.

of rapid transit throughout the Bay Area, and stressed "the need in Sacramento for men experienced in local government." He served as a city councilman in Mill Valley for four years and as a county supervisor for seven years before leaving county office voluntarily last year—to prepare for the Senate race.

Behr, whose past campaign supporters included many Democrats, stressed that he was "a third-generation Republican," and had campaigned for Republican presidential and U. S. Senate candidates for many years. This will be his first try at partisan office.

Behr announced his candidacy against a campaign sign that called for a "New Behr for California," a play on the bear symbol of the state.

He promised a full-time campaign from today to the June 2 primary election, "and onto victory in November."

Behr jabbed at a potential rival for the nomination, Assemblyman William T. Bagley, R-San Rafael, for "badgering the governor," and said that Bagley was "not as dedicated to the environmental crisis." But Behr said he believed in what he termed as 11th commandment, a California GOP rule that says that GOP candidates should not criticize one another—and risk losing the general election to a Democrat.

On Shone, Behr said "to the extent he represents the viewpoint of Sen. John McCarthy, I would not consider him a formidable candidate."

Present in the crowd was the man Behr has hired to run his campaign, Sanford Weiner of San Francisco. Weiner ran the successful campaigns of Rep. Paul N. McCloskey Jr., R-11th District, and of San Francisco Supervisor Dianne Feinstein.

shopping tour. Agnew returned to his hotel for a swim.

The Agnews hosted a small dinner party Sunday night for Malik but a sudden monsoon thunderstorm rained out a scheduled Balinese dance performance.

Agnew and Malik held a one-hour private talk Sunday. The Indonesian official, who has met with Agnew twice in Washington within recent months, told newsmen earlier this week there were no problems in U.S.-Indonesian relations.

Joining Agnew and Malik later was Apollo 10 astronaut Thomas Stafford who presented the Indonesians with a sample of moon rock encased in a tiny plastic globe and an Indonesian flag which had been carried to the moon and back.

Tight security was in effect throughout the vice president's Bali visit. Indonesian military and civilian police guarded all routes taken by the Agnew party and casually dressed U.S. Secret Servicemen surrounded the vice president at all public appearances.

POW Wives Await Moscow Session

MOSCOW (UPI) — Four American women, anxious to plead with the wives of Soviet leaders for news of their husbands missing in Vietnam, waited in a bleak hotel outside Moscow today for permission to enter the city.

The wives, received Monday by Pope Paul VI, arrived in Moscow Saturday night from Bucharest without visas, and were held in a transit hotel surrounded by windy, snow-swept fields outside the Soviet capital.

The women from Los Angeles, who hoped the Soviet Foreign Ministry would grant them short-term visas today, said they would try to meet with the wives of Soviet President Nikolai V. Podgorny and Communist Party Secretary Leonid I. Brehnev as well as diplomats of the North

Big Jet Goes To London Late

LONDON (UPI)—It may be bigger and better than any airliner that has ever flown—but the new Pan American Boeing 747 jumbo jet that arrived at London's Heathrow Airport today was three hours late.

Spokesmen for Pan Am said the plane, carrying 360 Pan Am employes who won the trip in a drawing, was delayed three and one-half hours in New York by a combination of engine trouble, paperwork and air traffic problems.

"But it was beautiful—everything went well all the way in the air," said first officer William Saulsbury, 49, of Los Angeles.

It took 25 minutes for all the passengers to get off the 231-foot plane and another half hour for them to clear customs and immigration.

Today's flight was the first transatlantic journey for the 747 under Pan Am colors. The plane made its maiden transatlantic flight under Boeing colors last year when it flew to the Paris Air Show.

Rascism Held Basic Problem

BERKELEY, Calif. (UPI)—Racism is the basic problem in the United States but it is something that people are beginning to recognize and trying to overcome, says a Negro congresswoman.

Rep. Shirley Chisolm, D-N.Y., a Negro, ended a tour of 40 campuses Sunday by telling an audience at the University of California "the nation is in a great deal of trouble."

"People don't know what tomorrow will bring," she said. "Something has gone vastly wrong.

"The basic problem is racism and there are plenty of people who are coming to recognize this problem," she added. "It is not too late. Maybe we might be able to overcome. I pray to God it will happen."

Minor Temblor Hits Santa Rosa

SANTA ROSA (AP)—A minor earthquake rattled windows at 2:05 a.m. today in Santa Rosa.

OBITUARIES

Gertrude Silverthorne Succumbs

Gertrude Silverthorne, wife of trouble-ridden ex-banker Don C Silverthorne, died after collapsing Saturday night at their Tiburon apartment.

Mrs. Silverthorne, 69, was pronounced dead at Marin General Hospital. She died of a coronary thrombosis, the coroner's office reported.

Silverthorne was founder and president of the San Francisco National Bank, which went into receivership in 1965, two-and-one-half years after it opened. Small accounts were covered by federal insurance, but major depositors lost $14 million.

Silverthorne was found guilty in 1966 of misapplying bank funds, but that conviction was overturned by the U. S. Court of Appeals.

He was again convicted last July on nine counts of misapplying bank funds and sentenced to eight years in jail. An appeal is pending and the Silverthornes have been living at 7 Salt Landing pending a decision. His attorney, George C. Martinez, said Silverthorne could not find employment and has been living on Social Security.

Mrs. Silverthorne suffered a stroke when her husband's legal problems began in 1965, but recovered sufficiently to attend both trials regularly, walking with a cane.

Silverthorne himself reportedly has a cardiac condition, but the retrial went ahead after the ex-banker walked out of a hospital before court-ordered medical tests were completed.

Mrs. Silverthorne was a concert pianist until arthritis ended her career. She was active in several charitable organizations. She is survived by her husband, a son, Don C. Silverthorne Jr. of Santa Rosa, and a daughter, Cody.

Funeral pending at Keaton's Mortuary, San Rafael.

Plant Gas Main Collapses, Killing Two

GARY, Ind. (UPI)—Two men were killed, six were injured and one missing when a huge gas main collapsed at the United States Steel Co. works here.

Company officials said the accident Sunday caused millions—perhaps $10-$15 million—in damage. An official described it as the worst accident in the steel works in 20 years, and it would take more than two months to resume production.

The dead were identified as Claude Douglas, 48, and Ben Finner, 44, both of Gary. Another worker was missing under tons of two-inch boiler plate.

The cause of the collapse of the massive—300 feet long and 16 feet in diameter—line was not immediately learned, but company officials said recent cold weather may have played a part.

The huge line twisted steel girders like pretzels and buried a switch-engine locomotive outside the plant. Douglas was the engineer on the locomotive. Finner, a steel pourer, was buried under two stories of twisted steel pipe and girders.

The line leads from three steel producing oxygen furnaces to a "gas-cleaning" system. The tubing acts as a vacuum cleaner, drawing gas to a 100-foot-tall "washing machine." When the line fell, it knocked out the three furnaces.

The furnaces turn out 12,000 tons of steel a day. Officials said 200 steel workers would be laid off in the next several days. The production slack would be picked up by other plants, though not fully, the firm said.

Twenty-two workers were in the plant Sunday when a "deafening rumble" ripped through the plant and the gas main fell, pulling down girders and steel tubing.

Gravediggers Plan Strike In New York

NEW YORK (UPI)—Nearly 1,700 gravediggers prepared to strike at cemeteries throughout the metropolitan area today.

500 At First Ecology Round; Another Planned

After drawing nearly 500 persons to an Ecology Awareness session at Terra Linda High School Saturday, the Ecology Club at the school is planning another conference this spring.

Population problems, bay fill and Point Reyes National Seashore were among the topics covered by several speakers during the three-hour conference.

Sue Morgenstern, president of the Ecology Club, estimated that nearly 500 persons attended.

Speakers were Supervisors John F. McInnis, and Michael Wornum, Dr. Donald Linsdale of the California Department of Public Health, Rev. John Thornton of Tiburon and Heinrich Bongart, a bio-chemist of Los Angeles.

A group of 75 students from Fairfield in Solano County and a group from Mill Valley also attended.

Probe Continues In Murder Case

James E. Bork, 38-year-old Sausalito man gunned down in the Strawberry Shopping Center Saturday night, may have been killed by mistake, Mairn Sheriff's Inspector Guido Battaglia said today.

The killer may have mistaken Bork for the man he and his companion had tried to provoke into a confrontation near the Strawberry Liquor Store minutes before the slaying, Battaglia said. Bork's physical appearance closely paralleled that of the otrer man, who had run into the liquor store to ask a clerk to summon police.

Witnesses are being interviewed today, Battaglia said, and composite photographs of the assailants will be drawn up..

Crash Victim's Condition Poor

A 50-year-old San Francisco woman remained in poor condition today in the intensive care unit at Marin General Hospital following a head-on collision Friday night on Alexander Avenue in Sausalito.

Anita Parks, a passenger in a car drivn by Anthony Vickers, 38, also of San Francisco, suffered chest and neck injuries. Vickers was discharged from the hospital yesterday after treatment for a cut eyelid and scraped knees.

Driver of the second car, Kathleen Barrington, 24, of San Carlos was treated for a broken nose and multiple bruises.

$70,000 Haul Of Jewelry

—Burglars broke into the West Los Angeles apartment of Jerry A. Magnin, 31, Sunday and stole some $70,000 worth of jewelry, police report today.

Police said the thieves apparently entered the apartment sometime betwen 5 and 5:30 p.m. while Magnin and his family were away. A rear screen door of the apartment had been forced, officers said.

Magnin told police that among the 13 pieces of jewelry missing were a $35,000 platinum sapphire and diamond ring and a second diamond ring worth $8,700.

High Court Refuses School Zoning Issue

WASHINGTON (UPI) —The Supreme Court refused today to hear arguments that de facto school segregation should be permitted in the South if it results solely from housing patterns.

The court, as customary, gave no reason for its brief order refusing to review legal issues involved in the neighborhood school attendance zones set up at Indianola, Miss.

The order left standing a decision of the 5th U. S. Circuit Court of Appeals rejecting the zoning because it left the schools about as segregated as they were before.

A three-judge circuit court panel held that even though the zones were drawn without regard to race, the city must redraw them or switch to some other plan that would get results.

In other action today, the court:

—Agreed to decide whether anti-Communist laws passed by Congress may be used to bar Communist Party candidates from election ballots.

—Refused to review the court martial conviction of a former Air Force captain who admitted meeting with Communist agents in East Berlin during a 1960 vacation.

—Let stand a state court ruling in a Cleveland case upholding nondiscriminating provisions in a construction contract—a case likely to bear on the Nixon administration's Philadelphia Plan of goals for hiring of more Negroes for construction work.

In the Indianola case, the federal circuit judges cited recent Supreme Court decisions that in the South, where schools were formerly segregated by law, officials must take positive action to wipe out lingering effects of the past.

This meant Indianola must either redraw its zones so as to cut across the racial housing patterns, swap grades among paired schools or adopt other methods that will integrate schools in all zones, the judges said.

In the Supreme Court appeal, city attorneys argued that the judges relied on previous cases involving so-called freedom of choice desegregation plans—not zoning by school neighborhoods.

The attorneys argued that the earlier decisions held freedom of choice plans must get results if they are to be accepted because they unfairly place the burden of integration on Negro parents.

In fact, the city of Indianola made no defense of a free choice provision of its desegregation plan for pupils who attend schools in the city from an outlying county area.

But the attorneys claimed the Supreme Court had never said the constitution required zones to be gerrymandered to bring about racial integration for its own sake, either in the South or elsewhere.

Also facing the Supreme Court this term are a number of other cases involving school segregation in the South.

Man Booked On Car Theft Probe

A 32-year-old Fairfax man was booked into Marin County Jail Saturday for investigation of possessing a stolen auto.

William Wade Crabb of 51 Belle Avenue was arrested by Fairfax police, who said he had abandoned an auto, stolen from a San Francisco auto rental agency in November of 1967, in San Rafael last March.

Crabb was being held on $4,375 bail to appear in municipal court today.

Keith Dwyer of the economic development office said study committees will meet every Thursday at 7 p.m. in the Petaluma City Hall, rather than monthly as originally planned.

Three Get Citizen Hero Awards

Four "Citizens of the Year" received awards for heroism Saturday night at a Marin County Peace Officers' Association dinner at which Mel L. Morse, executive director of the Marin County Humane Society, was installed as association president.

Present to receive the awards at the dinner meeting at Hamilton Air Force Base Officers Club were James H. Parr of Novato, Robert James Testa and Barry H. Bovee of San Rafael and James Ruel Lambert of Fairfax, all of whom performed acts of heroism or public service during 1969.

Judge E. Warren McGuire of Marin Superior Court presented the awards and was also the dinner speaker. He reviewed recent appellate court occasions which he said place additional burdens on law enforcement officers, including one requiring that a suspect be advised of his rights to a lawyer, etc., before being placed in a line-up.

Morse succeeds Undersheriff Sidney Stinson as president of the association.

By ROBERT M. SHAW

SACRAMENTO (AP) — The Mafia doesn't show up as a separate category in reports on crime in California, but a state agency says flatly, "The existence of organized crime in this state is beyond dispute."

It's a big business, but nobody knows just how big because it doesn't publish annual reports or file honest tax returns.

Using estimates of Carl M. Loeb, president of the National Council on Crime and Delinquency, organized crime may control as much as $60 billion in assets in California, and may be adding $1 billion to $2 billion a year to that empire.

These figures are drawn from Loeb's estimate that nationwide organized crime controls $600 billion assests and adds $10 billion to $20 billion a year.

Since California has about 10 per cent of everything else in the nation, some officials figure it to have 10 per cent of the country's organized crime.

However, others think organized crime—exemplified by the Mafia or La Cosa Nostra—is not a major factor in California crime.

An Associated Press survey of law enforcement officials at the federal, state and local levels reveals a variety of opinions and a preference to deal in generalities.

They admit much of the information in their confidential files is hearsay and can't be documented, or they say they don't want to jeopardize a current investigation.

The organized crime unit of Atty. Gen. Thomas C. Lynch's office, in a report to the legislature last June, acknowledged that organized crime exists, discussed the work that went into getting it organized, and mentioned a few investigations.

One legislator, Assemblyman Frank Murphy, R-Santa Cruz, criticized the report, saying any avid reader of a daily newspaper could have collected the same information.

Most of the documented information in police files is old, dating from legislative or special crime commission investigations as much as 20 years ago, but it at least forms the basis for a sketch of the Mafia in California.

Although it usually isn't seen, the Mafia surfaces from time to time when one of its attempts to infiltrate legitimate business or politics or law enforcement comes to light, or when a prosecutor takes a Mafia figure to court.

The Mafia made headlines in California last fall when Look magazine published an article alleging links between San Francisco Mayor Joseph Alioto and the underworld.

Alioto denies the allegations, saying the Mafia is "nonexistent" on the West Coast. He has filed a $12.5 million libel suit against Look because of the article.

The coordinator of the attorney general's organized crime unit, Marion Phillips, said in a deposition that the unit's file on Alioto consists of two newspaper clippings — neither of which mentions organized crime.

The days of the dramatic, bullet-riddled confrontation between the underworld lord and the law are gone.

Today the Mafia in California works quietly from used car lots, liquor stores and bars, restaurants and real estate offices.

And the law works just as quietly, watching known Mafia members and their associates, cataloguing their activities, looking for signs of major investments, and detecting changes in the way businesses operate.

The confrontation between the Mafia and the law today is more apt to come in a courtroom where prosecutors armed with tax, perjury and contempt laws match wits with Mafia lawyers.

Local, state and federal prosecutors, for example, try to take advantage of an underworld figure's propensity to either not answer questions or lie when he does, or to follow his own set of rules in running his business.

The prosecutors have found it's easier to get the goods on the lower echelon of small time hoods doing the dirty work. They have to be shrewder to get to the top men.

Like the man the U.S. Justice Department says is the boss of the Mafia in Los Angeles — 71-year-old Nick Licata. He's out of circulation, nailed last July on a contempt charge for refusing to answer a federal grand jury's questions.

The man the federal government says is Licata's top assistant, Joseph Dippolito, is appealing a 10-year sentence for perjury. He was caught lying to a grand jury.

And Salvatore Bonanno of San Jose, son of the former head of the Mafia on Long Island, Joseph Bonanno, has been convicted in federal court in New York City on 55 counts of mail fraud and conspiracy and two counts of perjury in a credit card swindle.

James Fratinanno, identified in a legislative report in 1959 as a Mafia executioner on the West Coast, ran afoummm James in a legislative report in 1959 as a Mafia executioner on the West Coast, ran afoul of the law in a trucking operation in Imperial County.

He was convicted of conspiracy and filing false statements with the federal government involving wages. He was placed on probation for three years and was fined $10,000, but avoided paying the fine by taking a pauper's oath — then left the courthouse in a $6,000 car driven by a girl friend.

Fratianno also pleaded guilty to state charges of conspiracy to commit petty theft and conspiracy to violate the state's public utilities and labor codes He is appealing a three-year sentence.

With some of its top people out of circulation and its emphasis on "quiet crime," the Mafia has tended to drift away from the image most people have: of Al Capone vs. Eliot Ness in a daylight shootout.

"The thugs from Prohibition days are pretty well out of it," says one top state investigator, "and their sons who came into life well off financially are finding they do better in legitimate business than as gangsters."

Gambling And Sports— They Go Hand In Hand

The corrosive effect of gambling on sports is an old story. Its current spread is merely hinted by the developments so far in an Internal Revenue Service investigation.

The Las Vegas apartment of "Dizzy" Dean, the legendary St. Louis Cardinals "Gashouse Gang" pitcher, is searched one day. Two days later the news story is that Dean is helping in the investigation. And the day following that, an affidavit is filed accusing Dean of placing $6,000 in bets for a wealthy businessman.

A RATHER UNSAVORY aura surrounded yesterday's Super Bowl football game, despite declarations by Pete Rozelle, pro football commissioner, that no pro grid player had been linked to the gambling ring.

The aura arose because six of the football pros were reported to have been subpoenaed to testify in the investigation.Among the six was Joe Namath, whose ownership of a New York night spot frequented by gamblers caused him to be suspended briefly from football last year. Among them also was Len Dawson, who was investigated by Rozelle's office last year after rumors of gambling connections.

THE CURRENT PROBE recalls the college basketball "difference by points fix" of a few years ago. Some of the same shenanigans are alleged in connection with college and professional football games -- although so far no player has been indicted.

The insidious, degrading influence of professional gamblers, out to "make a killing," is almost inevitable when sports become "big time." The bigger the sporting attraction, the more money there will be wagered on it. The more wagers, the greater the inducement for a "fix."

THE LINE BETWEEN amateur and professional in sports is a dim one at best. If a brawny young athlete receives a football scholarship to attend college, he has in a sense departed from amateurism. He is being paid to play to win.

Then rectitude and loyalty become the controlling factors. Nowadays, sometimes the college athlete has less loyalty to the team than does the professional -- whose earnings may depend to an extent on his team's winning record. The college student may be the more amenable to the sly suggestion that he not "throw the game," but just throw off enough so his team wins by fewer points than the odds makers have given it.

THERE IS NO REAL solution for this as long as sports events attract enough interest, and enough bets, to make such machinations profitable for the professional gambler. Baseball has avoided such scandal for a half century largely because the rewards to the player for "laying off" in any given game are insufficient to be enticing.

College sports could have escaped if they had been kept what they were intended to be originally -- contests between schools, entirely free of professionalism. They would then simply not attract enough bets.

"Seven Hundred Million! Eight Hundred Million! Nine Hundred Million! HUT! HUT! HUT!"

A Raccoon Frolic In Ross

A longtime friend of ours in Ross recently wrote us about a frolic some raccoons had with her garbage can last year.

It is well known that raccoons will go to surprising lengths to get at the goodies contained in garbage cans. Our friend had an excessive amount of holiday garbage, so she filled two cans. One, a 30-gallon can with a loose-fitting lid, was placed on a brick platform in the patio. To foil the raccoons, she then placed a very full, very heavy 15-gallon garbage can with an extremely tight fitting lid atop the 30-gallon can.

That night the raccoons pushed the very heavy 15-gallon can from its seat on the larger, tried to pry the lid off, and failing that, rolled the can around three potted junipers, around three large oak trees, and 25 yards across the yard before it came to rest against a fence. At that point the raccoons gave it up and went elsewhere in search of treats. They had been so intent on opening the small can, they forgot about the big one with the loose lid.

Our friend reconstructed this plot from the next morning's evidence. It shows how eagerly raccoons respond to a challenge to their ingenuity. A large part of their fun seems to be in the game called "outsmart people," even when they lose. It seems they, too, dream impossible dreams.

AFFAIRS OF STATE

Senate Committee Uncertainty Piles Up Bills For Introduction

By HENRY C. MACARTHUR

SACRAMENTO (CNS)—A most peculiar situation has arisen in the state Senate this year, due to changes in the structure of the upper house.

The situation involves the introduction of bills. According to Sen. Howard Way, R-Tulare, president pro tem of the Senate, there are likely to be no bills introduced before Jan. 15.

In the past, the public has been used to having information about the introduction of bills on the same day they are sent to the Senate desk, or at the least, the day after—that is, the numbers of the bills, the authors, and description of the content of the measures.

This year, however, there will be no measures actually introduced until Thursday or later, although bills are being sent to the Senate desk for introduction by the score.

THE SITUATION comes about as the result of Senator Way's proposal to reduce the number of committees in the Senate.

The Senate rule calls for every bill to be presented to the rules committee for assignment to the proper committee for legislative consideration.

Way's proposal to reduce the number of committees raises a question of what committee the bills should be assigned to.

AS A RESULT scores of bills are being piled up in the rules committee, of which Way is chairman, while the Senate awaits the make-up of the committees.

There has not been a single bill introduced in the Senate so far this session, in contrast to the Assembly, which received more than 100 measures during the first three days of the session.

This situation probably makes no difference in the ultimate disposition of the bills, but it does temporarily deprive the people from knowing what's in the legislature, and will cause a pileup of measures when they finally do come out of the rules committee.

Meanwhile, the public has been informed that certain bills have been introduced, when in effect, they have not.

This causes utter confusion to persons following the course of legislation.

WHAT OUR READERS SAY

'Women In White' Deserve Accolade

Sometimes during our lives I am sure that most of us realize there is something special about the modern-day Florence Nightingales, the "women in white" who minister to our needs; and, to no less degree, their aides, orderlies and other who make up a hospital's personnel.

This was dramatically brought home to me in a month's time of observing the functioning of staff members of Marin General Hospital where a loved one was in their care. During this period I was probably a nuisance many times and especially so in the quiet of the night when the rest of the world slept. The fact that these people are there attests to their competence. Five floors and thre shifts around the clock adds up to many workers many of whom are unknown to me by name. It would be unfair to single out any for particular praise but I would like to pay a sincere tribute to those among them who have been blessed with the God-given gift of compassion for their charges, that milk of human kindness that could easily be lost in a very busy hospital. Special thanks to many of nurses and aides for their efforts in reassuring sometimes bewildered and distracted relatives. God bless them all!

Citizen Support For Courthouse

I wish to comment on "A Citizen's Proposal for the San Rafael Court House." Briefly, Mrs. Nancy L. Olmsted has conceived and presented a beautiful plan to give Marin a truly unique facility to serve its citizens' needs and creative talents, incorporating the following:

1. A multi-ethnic experimental resource center
2. An experimental ecology exchange center
3. Preventative medical information center
4. Experimental workshops for people in the arts and sciences
5. A place for development of local historical information

Mrs. Olmsted has asked the county board of supervisors to appoint a group to look into the feasibility of purchasing this property for this purpose. They have indicated that they are not willing to do this because they felt it would be presumed to be an act of bad fatih with "Mr. X" who is about to make a bid, which will not be until February 10. In the meantime, the citizens of Marin can support her efforts by letting the supervisors know of their desires.

Backyard Burning Ban Worthwhile

Such a surprise that you gave a brickbat to the Air Pollution Control Board, or whatever its official name is, because they banned backyard burning! I waited to write until I checked figures with my daughter who, in working with the TB and Health Assn, as a professional, has been active in the work against air pollution, as a matter of fact, was at the meeting where the ban was voted on.

Backyard burning contributes 9 to 10 per cent of the smog that we see in the Bay Area. In agricultural areas, this percentage goes much higher during the burning of pruning, etc. I will certainly agree that cars and industrial plants are responsible for a great deal more of the air pollution. But I feel maybe that if there had been 9 or 10 per cent less smog during the beautiful Indian summer in November, I would have been able to see Mount STamalpais and beyond the mid-point of the Richmond Bridge.

I agree with the representative from Marin County who voted for this controversial ban, as she didn't want Marvelous Marin to look like the south area of the bay. Every small amount we reduce the pollution is in the plus column.

The ban is mostly controversial in my opinion because it is more trouble to get rid of burnables in some other way--and because it does create problems as to what to do with this material, as far as officials are concerned. But it can be done and I know we will do it, if we all try together.

County Employee Resents Editorial

I have considered for the past several days a civil way in which to comment on your Jan. 5 editorial.

Please accept this brief note as my protest to a poorly thought out editorial in what I am beginning to believe is an irresponsible newspaper.

How did your "reporter" determine (1) where the county employee parking lot is? (After having worked for the past five years at the Civic Center, I am still not aware of a separate lot for employees.) (2) How did he know which cars parked in this "employee lot" belonged to county employees? Did he check the registration of each car? . . .

Yes, we are "public servants" as we are so often reminded, but the great majority of us do take our jobs seriously and show pride in our work. We don't sit all day and idly "twiddle our thumbs" as you occasionally imply.

Are you next going to suggest that all employees sign an agreement upon being hired which stipulates not only the boundaries in which we reside but also exactly where we may spend our wages?

REMEMBER WHEN?

10 YEARS AGO

Jan. 12, 1960

Novato's voters created Marin's 10th city favoring incorporation by a better than 2-1 margin.

Fairfax City Council appointed Capt. Clifton C. Cordes as acting police chief following the death of Andy J. Peri, who served 34 years as chief.

20 YEARS AGO

JAN. 12, 1970

W. F. Ackerman, President of Pacific Greyhound Lines, replied to critics of Marin bus service in an open letter in which he said, "Who else, may I ask, has contributed $1.5 million to the growth of Marin County and received so little credit for it?"

There was snow on Mount Tamalpais and even a trace on Fourth Street in San Rafael.

THE DRUMMONDS

Nixon May Have Locked Self Into One-Term Presidency

By ROSCOE and GEOFFREY DRUMMOND

(Editor's Note: This is the first of five articles on the one-year-old Nixon Administration, written by Roscoe and Geoffrey Drummond. The Drummond team, though close to the President, remains critical of some operations of the government.)

WASHINGTON — Richard Nixon is headed to being a one-term President--and knows it.

But whatever happens in Vietnam, he will not be driven from office without seeking re-election, as was Lyndon Johnson. And he is aware that before the Vietnamese war is over the worst is more likely to befall him than tthe best.

Only one Republican President has been re-elected in this century--Dwight D. Eisenhower, who was more war-hero than party man. Mr. Nixon doesn't wince at the odds against him being the second.

Few of his aides question this judgment. Some make it a virtue, contending that the best way to win two terms is to act as though you were only going to have one; that is, to make hard decisions--good in the long run--even though unpopular at first.

THE PRESIDENT isn't one to look at the political pitfalls through rose-colored glasses. He isn't doing so now, and this is what he sees:

He sees his explicit, irreversible commitment "to end the war in a way that we could win the peace" as very hard to achieve. He has put it even more expansively in saying: "In my campaign for the presidency, I pledged to end this war in a way that would increase our chances to win true and lasting peace in Vietnam, in the Pacific and in the world." That's still harder to achieve.

He sees it as nearly certain that if he can't do both of these things--end the war and get a solid peace--his presidency will end in 1972.

He now knows, on the basis of a year of trying, that there are more ways to fail in Vietnam than to succeed, and he knows that his success depends more on what others do--in Saigon, Hanoi, the Viet Cong, Red China, Russia--than on what he does.

Thus Mr Nixon's ability to redeem his election pledge is only in small part in his own hands.

This is politically perilous.

HERE IS WHY Richard Nixon may already be locked into a one-term presidency:

If he ends the war and wins the peace, he can't be defeated in 1972.

If he is unable to end the peace, he can't be re-elected in 1972.

While the PRESIDENT CAN WITHDRAW U.S. troops unilaterally, he can't end the war unilaterally. The North Vietnamese and the Viet Cong can continue the war at a level and at a time they deem best for them.

Mr. Nixon aims to withdraw U.S. troops only at a pace equal to South Vietnam's ability to defend itself successfully. But is it really open to him to slow down substantially the withdrawal process? He has already said he hopes to exceed Clark Clifford's proposed withdrawal of all 190,000 ground combat troops by the end of this year. If the President's estimate of South Vietnam's capacity to defend itself is in error, the essential ingredient of ending the war and winning the peace vanishes.

MR. NIXON has pinned some hope on the proposition that if the American people show substantial unity behind his plan of action, Hanoi can be induced to begin serious talks for a negotiated settlement.

An improbable hope. It is more likely that Hanoi will refuse to negotiate at all while the United States is withdrawing.

The North Vietnamese and the VC can easily wait until President Nixon has unilaterally withdrawn all U.S. forces--he deems prudent--that is, until American forces are at their weakest--before they decide whether to negotiate or whether to put the South Vietnamese under the fire of a major offensive test. The latter can be reasonably expected.

CAN SAIGON stand militarily? Can the Thieu government stand politically? Will Hanoi ever negotiate seriously and, if it does, will it ever accept the central condition that Mr. Nixon defines as an "honorable peace"--the right of South Vietnam to self-determination through free elections?

These are the out-reaching uncertainties facing the Nixon plan for ending the war and winning the peace--and there are more uncertainties than anything else.

Under the best of circumstances, residual U.S. support forces (air and logistic) will be needed in Vietnam for some time. Will American patience persevere to enable the President to keep them there long enough?

Richard Nixon knows that the dangers of failure are greater than the prospects of success.

But he is also deeply convinced that the best way to earn a second term is to act as if it didn't matter.

Congress May Vote No New Foreign Aid Bill

By ROBERT S. ALLEN and JOHN A. GOLDSMITH

WASHINGTON — It is very possible that Congress, in the session that convenes Jan. 19, will not vote a new foreign aid appropriation bill — for the first time in the 24-year history of that stupendous program.

Instead, the "continuing resolution," under which foreign aid has been funded since last July 1, would be extended for the remaining five and one-half months of this fiscal year.

Under this legislative expedient, foreign aid spending has been continuing on the basis of the drastically reduced 1968 appropriation of $1.755 billion — the smallest budget voted for the program since it was launched in 1946.

THERE ARE HUGE amounts of unexpended balances from prior years in the foreign aid pipeline, Rep. Otto Passman, D-La., chairman of the Foreign Aid Appropriations Subcommittee, states these unspent balances amount to the stupendous total of $18.708 billion.

The veteran legislator maintains that a new appropriation is not necessary; that there are ample unspent funds to continue foreign aid for the remainder of this fiscal year on the level it has been operating the last 18 months.

In a statement to "American taxpayers" Rep. Passman presented a series of charts and computations that graphically detail the many billions in unexpended balances in the foreign aid pipeline and other revealing facts.

"DURING FISCAL 1970", he asserts, "the aid program will be operating in 99 nations and five territories of the world, with 51,000 individuals on the payroll. This includes U.S. personnel, foreign personnel and participants. There are 4,403 projects and sub-projects scattered all over the world.

"While many similar projects in the U.S. were closed down for lack of funds, not a single foreign aid project suffered as much as a one-dollar reduction on account of the limitation imposed by the Revenue and Expenditure Control Act."

We'e Been To The Moon In '69; It's 'Back To Earth' for '70s

Now that we've satisfied ourselves with our scientific prowess by landing men on the moon, the emphasis in the new decade of the 70s seems to be shifting toward preservation of our good earth back home.

From Washington, Sacramento, and in our backyards, the dominant concern is to save the bay, save the atmosphere, and save our good earth from contamination.

The growing concern for preservation of environment struck close to home for all of us with the Jan 1 ban on backyard burning. Sure, it's going to inconvenience most of us and upset long-established routines. Our obsession with clinical neatness, closely clipped hedges and manicured gardens may have to yield a bit, giving way to shabbier gardens and compost piles.

OTHER TRENDS for the 1970's will be the campaigns for smogless cars and against disposable and non-destructible cans and plastic containers, and toxic sprays and insecticides that threaten to change the chemical composition of the good earth which sustains all life.

We'll be cursing the many inconveniences, but in the long run, it's far better to look a little shaggier, walk a little farther, ride a bike and return bottles to the corner market than have all living things including man choke and shrivel from smog, spray and other man-made poisons.

If "on to the moon" was the motto for the '60s, it will be "back to earth" for the '70s.

THE NEW YEAR also started with a bang in local politics. Bill Gnoss's retirement as North Marin Supervisor leaves that post wide open for all comers like Babe Silva, Wayne Womack and Arnold Baptiste. Gnoss will probably stay neutral in the race for his post.

State Sen. John F. McCarthy's pullout from the Senate race came as a surprise. It's a wide open race with Peter H. Behr and Raymond Shone as the opening Republican contenders. Ernest Kettenhofen, who had indicated he would run if McCarthy didn't, is reported waiting to see whether Assemblyman Bill Bagley will try for the Senate before making his decision.

These Are Charging Times– And So Have All Times Been

"Human conduct and belief are now undergoing transformations profounder and more disturbing than any since the appearance of wealth and philosophy put an end to the traditional religion of the Greeks. It is the age of Socrates again: our moral life is threatened and our intellectual life is quickened and enlarged, by the disintegration of ancient customs and beliefs. Everything is new and experimental in our ideas and our actions, nothing is established or certain any more."

Will Durant, historian-philosopher, wrote these words almost half a century ago. They could have been written today.

SIMILAR THOUGHTS were expressed in the days of the Pharaohs, when scribes wrote of their changing times, their changing beliefs, the breakdown of their customs and the unruliness of their young.

It is a recurring chant in the affairs of men. So it has been, so it is, and so it shall be. For change is a prerequisite of life and it's impossible to imagine a world without it.

Our century, however, has seen changes come with unprecedented rapidity, and we are badgered, propagandized, coerced, shamed and even bribed to accept many of them.

Monday's social and scientific theories are Tuesday's news, Wednesday's popular topics, Thursday's shoulder-shrugging commentaries, and Friday's axioms.

"THESE ARE CHANGING times!" we are told–as if it's a novel condition suddenly thrust upon us. "We need courage, maturity and self-confidence to face the changes of our times!"

These qualities are important, of course, but they aren't all we need. We must also consider, evaluate and debate honestly and openly all the ramifications that proposed changes will bring, and juxtapose them against our values and our goals, weighing them with great care against the price that will have to be paid. And there always is a price sooner or later.

"The rate, complexity, and variety of change in our time," Durant goes on to say, "are without precedent, even in Periclean days; all forms about us are altered, from the tools that complicate our toil, and the wheels that whirl us restlessly about the earth to the innovations in our sexual relationships and the hard disillusionment of our souls."

IT'S FREQUENTLY said that man resists change. It's more accurate, I think, to say that each man will react to change depending on the effect he believes–or is led to believe–it will have on him.

Perhaps today more than ever, because of our mass communicatons media, we are more susceptible to accepting change because it has been made fashionable to do so. We give as much thought to the selection of a new idea as we do to the selection of a new hat–sometimes, not as much. This might well be the great corruption of our time–not change but the acceptance of change as a dictate of fashion. It's a degeneration of our dignity to do so, a slovenly and disarrayed state of mind, a disquieting lack of self-discipline and unhealthy loss of individual freedom.

"We move about the earth with unprecedented speed," I'm quoting Durant, "but we do not know and have not thought, where we are going, or whether we shall find happiness there for our harrassed souls. We are being destroyed by our knowledge, which has made us drunk with our power. And we shall not be saved without wisdom...Knowledge is power, but only wisdom is liberty."

Board Seeking New Chairman

Marin City Community Services District board will hold a special meeting tonight to elect a chairman to suceed Douglas Quiett, who is resigning.

Mrs. Margaret Beauchamp, district secretary, said the meeting is set for 7:30 p.m. at the Manzanita Center. She said Quiett is attending school and working, and cannot devote adequate time to district activities. Frank Phillips will be acting chairman tonight.

The board will also write a job description for the post of district director which has been vacant since Charles Story resigned last March.

Leadership Bonds For Two Girls

Two Sir Francis Drake High School students from San Anselmo have been chosen first and second place winners in the Elks Club youth leadership contest.

Deborah Olson, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Roy B. Olson, won first prize, a $100 savings bond, and will represent San Rafael Elks Lodge 1108 in northwest district competition.

Debra Hendricks, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Ralph C. Hendrick earned second prize, a $50 savings bond.

Unemployment Shows Decline

SACRAMENTO (UPI)—The seasonally adjusted unemployment rate declined to 4.4 per cent in December from 4.6 in November, but was well above the December 1968 rate of 4.0 per cent, the director of Human Resources Development has reported.

Gilbert L. Sheffield said unemployment totaled 376,000 in December. Compared with December 1968, unemployment was up by 38,000.

Employment set a record for December with 8.12 million Californians working. This figure exceeded last year by 233,000 and was more than any prior December.

Supervisor's Agenda To Be Light Tomorrow

Marin County Board of Supervisors faces a light agenda tomorrow and hopes to wind up the day's session by noon.

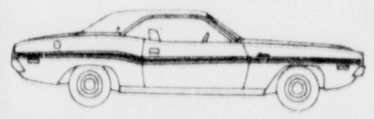

Among major items is a request from the City of San Rafael to rent the parking area in the vacated courthouse grounds. City Mgr. J. H. McGown said the city will maintain the grounds in an attractive way and use the space to relieve parking and traffic congestion. The lease would be on a short-term basis because the county will open bids next month for sale of the courthouse square.

The federal government spent $2,162,499 for printing 1969 income tax forms.

George Kappas wants to add more fill to his yacht harbor property that juts into Richardson Bay at Waldo Point. The Richardson Bay fill committee, composed of Public Works Director Donald R. Frost, Planning Director Paul C. Zucker, and County Counsel Douglas J. Maloney, will recommend denial.

At 11 a.m., a sports fishing group called Trout Unlimited will ask the supervisors to oppose the Dos Rios dam project, which would dam waters on the Middle Fork of the Eel River to supply Southern California.

NOVATO COMMUNITY HOUSE—Members of the Novato Community Club dreamed of incorporation of their community when they provided many years ago that their building would be turned over to the city whenever it incorporated. It came to pass finally in 1961—but not without a struggle.

CITY HALL—While other cities spend millions for city halls, or try to pass bond issues, Novato got this especially attractive city hall by purchasing an old church and remodeling it. (Independent-Journal photos)

Novato Chose Future As A City Just One Decade Ago Today

Ten years ago today, on Jan. 12, 1960, the people of Novato voted to incorporate their community as a city.

Incorporation was not completed until Jan. 20, when the certificate was issued by Secy. of State Frank M. Jordan. But the die was cast on Jan. 12.

A week-long observance of Novato's 10th anniversary began today, with Hugh Turner of radio KTIM conducting live curbside interviews on the city's progress beside Long's Drug Store in the Downtown Novato Shopping Center.

The official "birthday ball" dinner-dance will be held Saturday beginning at 6:30 p.m. at the Moose Lodge at 830 Lamont Avenue, with proceeds going into the Pioneer Memorial Park fund. A portion of it will be aired over KTIM, which also is offering prizes for the best letters on "Why I Love Novato."

TERRITORY PROBLEM

The vote to incorporate followed a hectic campaign in which proponents "gave away" much territory to find boundaries which would not include those most opposed to the home-rule move.

When Novatans voted 2,102 for incorporation to 813 against (out of 4,835 registered voters), the city they created covered a wide area with many kinks in boundary lines. It skirted Ignacio and West Novato, but took in Hamilton Air Force Base. It reached from St. Vincent's Hill to Mount Burdell, from San Pablo Bay to Stafford Lake—but with many partial "islands" in between.

FIRST COUNCIL

The five men elected from a 27-candidate field to become the first city council faced the task of starting a city from scratch—with no money, no city staff, no city hall.

These five were J. Wayne Womack, who as top vote getter in the election became the first mayor, Babe Silva, Everett Pozzi, Harvey J. Vicchio, and Charles R. Johnson.

Two of them, Womack and Silva, are on the present city council and have served on the council eight of Novato's 10 years as a city.

Using a vacant bank building belonging to Silva as temporary city hall, the brand new council contracted with the county to perform all city services temporarily. Soon, they chose J. Julien Baget as city administrator—a post he held, with the title later changed to city manager, until he resigned last year to become executive dirctor of the Association of Bay Area Governments. Present city manager is Charles A. Brown, for-

There were 7,062 acres and 15,000 people in the original city of Novato. Ten years later, it has grown by annexations to 13,195 acres, and its population has roughly doubled.

Finding city offices was at first a difficult job. The police department was started in the former Northwestern Pacific Presbyterian Church had later been purchased for $6,000 by the Novato Community Club and became known as the Community House. In the original purchase was a stipulation that if and when Novato ever incorporated, the building would be turned over to the city.

CLUB IS SPLIT

The members of the Community Club when Novato finally did incorporate were divided over whether this meant the club was obligated to give away its headquarters. There were months of discussion and dispute. Finally the city started a suit to gain the building. But when Novato was only a year old, the matter was amicably settled and the Novato Community House became the city's own headquarters.

A year later, having accumulated some tax money, the city purchased adjacent Trevitt Hall and its parsonage from the Presbyterian Church for $62,500. Trevitt Hall became the city hall; the parsonage became police headquarters. The latter was enlarged in 1964 by purchase of the adjacent George Morrison home and its connection to the former parsonage.

PARKS PURSUED

Parks have been sought by the city almost since its beginning — but without too much success so far. A three-million-dollar park bond issue was roundly trounced by the voters last year, but the city council plans to try for a smaller issue in June.

Through a special 30-cent tax, the city purchased Pioneer Memorial Park, including an old cemetery. With the help of civic organizations, first phase of its development is nearing completion.

A second park, Arroyo Avichi, was also purchased but has been little developed as yet. Another park, at Stafford Lake, was acquired from the Lions Club. A nine-acre park, as yet undeveloped, was donated by Sunset International Petroleum Co., developer of San Marin—one of the areas annexed to the city.

The city was more fortunate with a $1,000,000 bond issue for a swimming pool, which was installed on the Novato High School campus for joint city and school use.

Among major aims of incorporation was improvement of streets—most of which are old country roads. But voters last year turned down a $5,750,000 bond issue for this purpose.

Splitting Novato throughout its existence has been Highway 101, but the city has to its credit that it persuaded the California Division of Highways to reroute the proposed freeway development out of Novato's downtown. Move of the highway is still awaited.

Novato, Marin's second youngest city (Tiburon is the youngest), is also the second largest—behind only San Rafael. Silva and Womack, the two veterans among the present city council, firmly believe that within a few years it will be the largest.

Case To Superior Court Tomorrow

John D. Renda, 25, of Santa Rosa, will appear tomorrow in Sonoma County Superior Court on charges of burglary and assault with a deadly weapon in connection with a break-in Dec. 10 at Ruegge Motors in Petaluma.

Renda was bound over to superior court Friday after a preliminary hearing in municipal court before Judge Alexander J. Mahon. Bail was reduced from $25,000 to $5,000.

Police said Renda struck owner Lee Ruegge with a tire iron after being discovered in the shop.

Festival Promoters To Give Report

A report from promoters of the controversial Fairfax Festival will be presented to the city council when it meets tonight at 8 o'clock in the Women's Club.

The report is expected to answer criticism from several Fairfax residents that last year's event attracted large numbers of hippies who used drugs and alcohol and cost the city for cleanup and additional police protection.

Proposed Zoning Change On Agenda

A public hearing on a proposed change of property on Lucky Drive from light industrial to medium density residential zoning will be heard when the Corte Madera Planning Commission meets at 7:30 p.m. today at town hall.

Hearings are also scheduled on proposed prezoning of an unincorporated area between Paradise Drive and the Koch luggage factory for light industrial use, and on proposed new parking space standards.

Burglary Denied

Carlos Raul Qujano, 27, of no known address, pleaded innocent Friday in Marin Municipal Court to a charge of burglary of a house trailer belonging to Brite Bonnair of Gate 5, Waldo Point. Preliminary hearing was set for tomorrow.

Use Of Old School Will Be Considered

The Lagunitas School District board will consider bids for use of the old Lagunitas School when it meets at 7:30 p.m. today at the San Geronimo Valley Elementary School.

The board will also discuss plans for completion of the San Geronimo Valley School building program and hear a report from a citizen's advisory committee on the district's financial status.

Federal Court Rejects Move By Frank Sinatra

NEWARK, N. J. (UPI) — A federal court has rejected a move by Frank Sinatra which would have permitted the singer to avoid appearing before a state investigating committee.

It was revealed Sunday that Sinatra's attorneys have failed in their bid for a court test of a state crime investigating commission which last June summoned the famous singer to testify about organized crime.

Sinatra's attorneys had asked U.S. District Court Judge James A. Collahan to set up a three judge panel to determine whether the State Investigation Commission (SIC), which has the power to grant witness immunity, violates the constitution.

Once granted immunity, witnesses can be prosecuted should they fail to testify.

A warrant for Sinatra's arrest, good only in New Jersey, was issued after Sinatra was subpoenaed last June and failed to appear before the SIC.

Anti-Featherbedding Bill Still Languishes On Senate's Shelf

WASHINGTON (AP)—An anti-featherbedding bill introduced by Sen. Paul Fannin, R-Ariz., has been in a deep freeze for 10 months—and shows no signs of life.

Fannin's bill, introduced last March 13, would amend the Taft-Hartley Act so that it would not be an unfair labor practice for employers to refuse to bargain with unions "for services not desired or required by the employer including those of a standby nature."

The bill was referred to the Senate Labor and Public Welfare Committee and on March 17 it routinely requested the Labor Department, the National Labor Relations Board, and the Bureau of the Budget for their views on the proposed legislation.

So far none of the executive agencies has responded, nor has the committee attempted to prod them into submitting reports for or against the bill. Aides said executive agency reports seldom are received unless a bill is set down for hearings and there appears to be some prospect of action on it.

No hearings have been held on the bill and there is nothing to indicate any will be, either by the full committee headed by Sen. Ralph Yarborough, D-Tex., or a subcommittee headed by Sen. Harrison A. Williams, Jr., D-NJ., that handles labor law changes.

In a speech prior to introducing the bill Fannin said he saw no hope of any labor law overhaul with the present make-up of the committee and the Congress.

"The best procedure to follow in getting some significant labor law reform . . . is to help elect a Republican majority in the next Congress," he said.

Fannin, a former member of the Labor Committee, said the Taft-Hartley Act has a prohibition against featherbedding but rulings of the NLRB, upheld by the Supreme Court, have largely nullified it.

"Congress intended to rule out union requirements to have type set over, packages repacked, electrical wiring redone, and standby personnel for whom there is no work," he said. But he said the NLRB has held that if the services are performed the act has not been violated.

Thus, he said, "if the stand-by crews do indeed stand-by, if the perfectly good original wiring is torn out and replaced, if unneeded type is set and then thrown away, then the law passed to eliminate featherbedding, through misinterpretation, becomes an instrument to legalize it."

A Labor Committee aide said opponents of a bill such as Fannin's maintain that job displacement problems brought on by automation and other technological advances are best left to employers and unions to work out, rather than have the government interfere.

He also said there is a reluctance to bring up in the Senate any amendment to the Taft-Hartley Act lest it touch off a move for wholesale changes in the law.

Clergyman Asks Marriage Ended

Rev. Charles B. Gompertz, vicar of the Church in Ignacio, an Episcopal mission, Friday filed suit in Marin Superior Court for dissolution of his 10-year marriage to Anne Morris Gompertz.

The suit, filed under the state's new divorce law, cited irreconcilable differences. The couple married on March 31, 1959 and separated last Oct. 26 according to the complaint.

Gompertz asked that custody of three children ranging in age from 4 to 9 years be awarded both to him and his wife. The complaint said community property has already been divided.

Poll Is Sought On Classroom

The Old Adobe School District board, Petaluma, has asked a poll of district teachers on possible uses of the multipurpose room planned at the district's new school on St. Francis Drive, Supt. Dean D. Magowan reported.

The board, meeting Thursday, asked for results of the poll in two weeks.

In other business, the board said Mrs. Mary Thompson, a part-time reading teacher, would be employed full time and approved an agreement for sixth grade students to attend outdoor education classes at Camp Cazadero April 5-10.

Canned Anchovy Batch Perilous

BERKELEY (AP)—The State Department of Public Health today warned Californians not to eat "Deep Blue" brand anchovies marked with lot number ENE69 because the Spanish import contains deadly botulism.

The product is not normally distributed in the west, the department said, but cans might be brought into California by travelers from the East coast.

No deaths or illness have been reported from the anchovies.

Jail Sentence Set In Marijuana Case

Judge Joseph G. Wilson of Marin Superior Court Friday ordered Valient Gale Nims III, 18, of Novato to spend 41 days in jail, with credit for time already spent at juvenile hall. He also placed the youth on three years probation.

Nims had admitted possessing marijuana when arrested with two young girls in a car in a parking lot Sept. 14 in Novato. He is still awaiting sentencing in municipal court on charges of battery and being in a place where narcotics were used.

In this age of gimcracks and chrome, is there a place for a car so masterfully engineered that 90 percent of its value is invisible?

Mercedes-Benz thinks so.

Yesterday's dreamboats had enormous tail fins.

Today, it's fastbacks, racing stripes, and wall-to-wall chrome grilles.

Obviously, there are millions every year who are willing to buy a car that's "in vogue"—even though they know newer gimcracks and styling quirks will soon erode their investment.

But Mercedes-Benz refuses to play the "planned obsolescence" game.

At Mercedes-Benz, iron-willed engineers, not stylists, rule the roost. And they insist on putting value where they think it belongs: at the heart of their machines.

That's why Mercedes-Benz motor cars can cost anywhere from about $4,600* to $27,000* without, to some tastes, "looking" it.

The new Mercedes-Benz 250. To some, it doesn't "look" worth $5,299. Read why it is.*

Form follows function

Make no mistake. The perfectionists at Mercedes-Benz do not apologize for those classic lines—free of faddish touches—that will still be handsome years from now. They simply think form should follow function instead of fashion.

The contours of that 250 sedan at right were dictated by the need to provide proper headroom, hiproom, legroom and protective packaging for five adults. Dictated by the proportions required for nimble maneuverability.

The car is both shorter and leaner than its overweight rivals. Yet it bristles with sophisticated, ultra-performance features that simply do not exist on domestic sedans.

A superb machine

Too sophisticated, some critics say. Nonsense, retort Mercedes-Benz engineers. If a man can afford to invest thousands of dollars in a superb driving machine, he is entitled to get something superb.

What he gets in a Mercedes-Benz is legendary in automotive circles.

An expert from Car and Driver tested the "new" 250 when it was released early in 1968 after an incubation period of five years. His verdict: "Offhand, I can't think of any other 4-door sedan in the world—with the possible exception of the Maserati Quattroporte—that handles, steers and stops like the Mercedes."

Scrapping the solid rear axle system of most domestic cars, the 250 uses an all-independent suspension—plus anti-sway bars front and rear. This endows it with the agility of a scrambling quarterback.

You can blast it over rutted and potholed gravel lanes. It behaves with almost eerie calm. You can thread it through the corkscrew turns of a mountain road, and enjoy yourself.

There's no sloppy play in the steering. No mushiness. When you hold the wheel, you "feel" the road. When you turn the wheel, the car responds instantly. Suddenly, you are a more confident driver.

Heroic stopping power

Stopping? Unless you have driven a 180-mph Grand Prix racing car or a Mercedes-Benz, chances are you have never experienced the security that comes from having really good brakes.

Disc brakes.

A few domestic sedans have front-wheel disc brakes, and others offer front-wheel discs as an option. But every Mercedes-Benz comes with massive disc brakes on all four wheels. Standard.

Result: You get more stopping power than you may ever need. But you sleep better at night.

The pinnacle of safety

As for safety, Mercedes-Benz engineers applaud the intent of the U.S. Government regulations, and carry their protective measures beyond the letter of these laws.

The 250's best defense against blundering drivers is, of course, its almost uncanny evasive ability. But, if the worst happens, your Mercedes-Benz is designed to shield you.

The entire passenger compartment is built as a sturdy "safety zone." Doors are designed to stay closed on impact. The front and rear sections of the car are engineered to crumple in a violent crash at a controlled rate, absorbing shock and reducing the threat of serious injury.

Car and Driver's sober conclusion: Of all the world's motor cars, the current Mercedes-Benz line "represents the present pinnacle in safe car engineering."

Value. All of it concealed from the casual eye. But there.

And there's more. Construction of every Mercedes-Benz begins in a shower of sparks. Where conventional cars use bolts to tie body and chassis together, Mercedes-Benz uses thousands of welds to create a single unit of immense strength. After 50,000 miles or so, you may begin to wonder if your 250 will ever rattle.

When welding stops, the raw body is dunked whole, like a taffy apple, into a gigantic vat of primer. It emerges with 24 pounds of rust protection.

More hidden value

Every car gets 20 more pounds of primer and paint. Even the insides of the hub caps are coated. As a final flourish in its armament against corrosion, each car gets a 24-pound factory slathering of undercoating.

The six-cylinder, overhead-cam engine of every 250 is bench tested before installation, for more than 60 minutes. A hint of trouble in this grueling test and the engine is torn down and rebuilt. Mercedes-Benz finds the lemons—not you.

Revealing showroom tests

Run a finger along the body of the 250. No "orange peel" texture. Slide in and open the glove compartment. Fully trimmed. Close the car door. Ka-chunk.

Now flex your back. This is no marshmallow seat. It supports you, mile after mile. It should: it was designed with the guidance of orthopedic physicians.

Crank the window and fiddle with some knobs. "Everything worked with delightful precision, eliciting the same sort of satisfaction that comes when the shutter mechanism crackles shut on a good reflex camera," reported Car and Driver's expert.

That's the beauty of the 250. It's built as if it were a 3,000-pound Hasselblad camera!

An unconventional car? Defiantly so. Mercedes-Benz does not make conventional cars—and never will.

Full color brochure

If you'd like more facts on this remarkable $5,313* machine, mail the coupon for a full-color brochure.

Of course, the quickest way to verify the 250's virtues, both visible and invisible, is simply to drop by the showroom and arrange a test drive.

Other models to ponder:

280S Sedan—the most roadworthy car you can buy in the luxury class, $6,408*.

280SL Roadster—a sports car for grown-ups, combines soul-stirring performance with comfort, $7,478*.

220 Diesel—the only diesel-powered automobile Mercedes-Benz makes, gives you small-car economy in a big, safe sedan that may well endure for decades, $4,887*.

300SEL—an understated limousine, $10,934*.

'Circus Priest' Dies In Florida

VENICE, Fla. (AP) — The Rev. Edward Sullivan, known as the "Circus Priest," died Sunday in the shadow of the big top whose performers he had been ministering to for 44 years. He was 72.

Father Sullivan, who was pastor of the Roman Catholic Star of the Sea church in Squantam, Mass., "ran away" to Florida each year to spend a month with the Ringling Bros. Circus at its winter home.

The priest died, apparently of a heart attack shortly after blessing the 500 circus performers and the big top's animals as they set off for an annual tour marking their 100th season.

He became chaplain to the Ringling Bros. Circus after he visited it during its performances in the Boston area and became friendly with the management.

Funeral arrangements were not announced.

To Juvenile Court

The case of David Paul Underhill, 18, of Mill Valley, Friday was transferred to juvenile court by Judge Hadden W. Roth of Marin Municipal Court. The youth is accused of having marijuana in Mill Valley.

INCOME TAX FACTS

Form 1040 Expected To Help Taxpayer Find More Deductions

Wikel

If you are used to filing a Form 1040A card form tax return, you are going to find that for 1969, you must file a Form 1040. Form 1040 has been completely revised and simplified so that it should be comparatively easy for the 1040A filers to use. Also, the Internal Revenue Service made a survey of a small sample of 1963 users of 1040A and found:

Some 81,000 taxpayers should have itemized $50 million in deductions; 16,000 should have taken $6.5 million in sick pay exclusion; 36,000 should have taken $3 million retirement income credit, and 61,000 should have taken $8 million credit for excess FICA.

IRS also found that a substantial number did not include income which was not specifically listed on Form 1040A.

FORM USE DECLINES

It has been stated that of the more than 70 million individual income tax returns filed, over 40 per cent claimed itemized deductions. Also, 1040A use has declined every year and for 1968 was around 25 per cent of the total.

Income geos up and the tax laws become more and more complex. Since the first year ot the standard deduction (1944), there has been a steady increase in the number of taxpayers using itemized deductions. With high medical expense, even higher state and local taxes and greatly increased interest rates, this could only be expected.

MANY OVERPAID

Many taxpayers overpaid their taxes because they did not itemize deductions.

If you have been using Form 1040A, now is a good time to look back and see if you would have been better off to use Form 1040 and itemize your deductions, or claim the exclusion for sick pay or moving expenses, or other employee expenses, or retirement income credit, or reduced rates for surviving spouse, or reduced rates for head of household,etc.

AMENDED RETURNS

If you would have been better off to itemize your deductions, then you should file an amended return, Form 1040X, for the open years. The oldest open year would be 1966, the tax return being due by April 15, 1967, and the time for filing amended returns would expire April 15, 1970.

Be sure and check all of the instructions and all of your deductions before filing your return this year. See if you wouldn't be better off to itemize, or even if you are not better off to itemize, if there are not some other deductions that can be taken directly from income without itemizing.

Check your Independent-Journal for any changes in the rules.

A More Democratic Best Dressed List

DASHING daredevil, Jean-Claude Killy, triple Olympic gold medal Ski Champion, was named yesterday to the best dressed list for 1969. The list, the result of a poll of some 2,000 people in the fashion and social worlds, has become more democratic in the past years.

By ANN HENCKEN

NEW YORK (AP) — Here it is. The parade of often-talented, often-beautiful and almost always-rich people who have made the international best dressed list.

The list is the result of a poll of some 2,000 people in the fashion and social worlds. Names of those chosen for 1969 were announced Sunday by Eleanor cratic. A men's category has been added. The ranking system has been eliminated. Blacks have been honored, alebit in "token" proportions. This year Harry Belafonte was selected over men like Mayor John Lindsay of New York and Baron Alexis de Rede, both of whom are more "social" in the Establishment sense.

Five men and one woman were chosen to the Fashion Hall of Fame as "perpetual symbols of excellence in dress." They are film stars Cary Grant and Douglas Fairbanks; Prince Philip, Duke of Edinburgh; Dean Acheson, former U.S. Secretary of State; Angier Biddle Duke, former ambassador to Spain and Denmark, and Baroness Philippe de Rothchild of France.

The women on the 1969 list not professionally connected with fashion are:

—Mme. Ahmed Benhima (wife of the Moroccan ambassador to the United Nations). She likes designers Dior and Gres.

—Mrs. William McCormick Blair Jr., Washington, D.C. (wife of the former ambassador who now heads the Kennedy Center for the Performing Arts). She wears Givenchy's creations.

—Mrs. Wyatt Cooper (Gloria Vanderbilt) of New York. She is dressed by Adolfo.

—Mrs. Kirk Douglas, Beverly Hills, California (wife of the actor). Molly Parnis fashions suit her.

—Mrs. Ahmet Ertegun, New York (wife of the music publisher). She is another Adolfo fan.

Others in this category include: Mrs. Robert Evens, Ali McGraw, actress); Mrs. Patrick Guinness, Paris and Lausanne, Switzerland; Her Highness Princess Salima, wife of the Aga Khan (former Lady Sarah Crichton-Stuart); Mrs. Graham Mattison, Paris, Brazil-

Women best dressed in the fashion world are: model and socialite Marisa Berenson, wife of fashion photographer Berry Berenson, Mrs. Robin Butler, Mrs. Oscar de la Renta, Mrs. David Evins, Lady Pamela Harlech, Mrs. Thomas Kempner, Mme. Minouche Le Blan, Eva Orton, Mrs. Renny Saltzman, Mrs. Frank Schiff and fashion model Veruschka, Countess Vera von Lehndorff in private life.

The men in private life who led the way in 1969 are: Gianni Agnelli (head of the Fiat Company of Italy); Adolphus Andrews, San Francisco business man); Harry Belafonte; Gianni Bulgari (Rome jeweler); Michael Butler (producer of "Hair"); James Coburn (film actor; Wyatt Cooper, New York publisher; Frank Gifford, (New York sports broadcaster); George Hamilton, film actor; Jean-Claude Killy, Olympic skier); Baron Eric de Rothschild, member of the international banking family) and David Susskind, television personality).

The best dressed men affiliated with fashion are: Bill Blass, Hubert de Givenchy, Luis Estevez, Robert L. Green, Baron Nicolas de Gunzburg, Walter Halle, Sixten Herrgard, Bernard Lanvin, Patrick, Earl of Lichfield, Robert Sakowitz, Philippe Venet and John Weitz.

Mildew Forms In Humid Areas

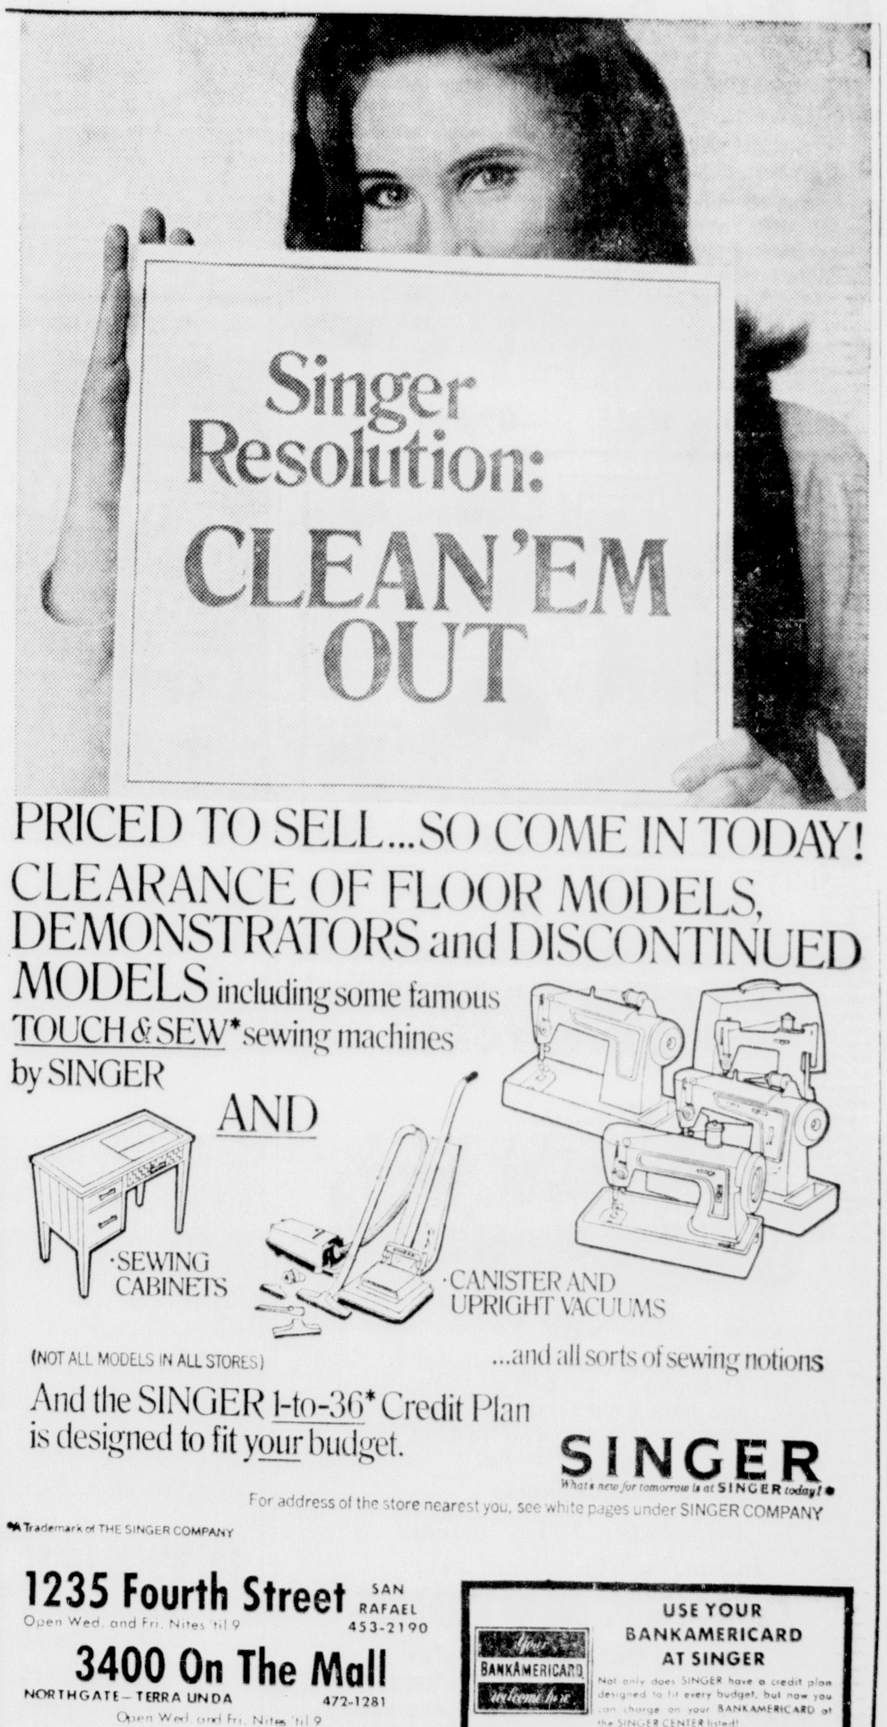

SILVER SPRING, Md. (UPI) —Clothing left in warm, moist and humid areas will encourage mildew spores to ferment and grow, especially if the clothing contains any starch.

The clothing care experts at the National Institute of Drycleaning advise that once mildew grows on your clothing, it's impossible to remove — unless the fabric and dye can withstand bleaching.

Genetic Centers Help Couples

NEW YORK (UPI)—Genetic counseling now helps couples afraid to have children because of an inheritable disease in the family.

There are 157 genetic counseling centers in the United States. At these a pregnant woman can be given tests that show whether her baby will be born with genetic abnormalities. Information about the centers is available from the National Foundation, 800 Second Ave., New York, N.Y.

HELEN HELP US!

By HELEN BOTTEL

It's Going Too Far When Group Therapy Becomes A Party Game

Dear Helen:

Isn't it going too far when group therapy becomes a game? Several times lately we've been at parties where somebody says "Let's play encounter" and off we go, asking terribly personal questions, insisting on total honesty, slapping the ego out of each other—and then pretending friendships can be the same afterwards, when we sober up.

I guess people like this sort of thing or they wouldn't do it, but count me out. Encounter, conducted by experts, is helpful to those who react well to it, but I think this fad has gone overboard. The sad possibility is that those who try it may be least able to cope with the truth—or that they may not get the truth, but only a cruel opinion from a biased person.—SKEPTICAL

Dear Skeptical:

There's good news and bad news about encounter groups. Undoubtedly they help, when managed rightly. But what was organized as a dynamic way to gain better understanding of ourselves and others has in some cases degenerated into a hurtful game.

Such fads die quickly, however. I think the amateurs who try "gripe therapy" for fun at cocktail parties will soon return to "grope" therapy—more compatible with five or six martinis.

And then encounter work can get on with it again.—H.

Dear Helen:

Is it supposed to be a sign of virility in a man—to have a stubble? On TV, you see so many actors who look like they shaved day before yesterday. Long hair and moustaches or beards I have adjusted to, but please, Bronson, et al, can't you shave before you come before the camera?—TOO MUCH REALISM

Dear TMR:

Yes, please. "His Nubs" doesn't really send me either.—H.

Dear Helen:

I am a tenement landlord, a dirty word these days. But I am a good landlord. I keep up my end of the bargain with repairs, etc. Many of my better tenants have told me so.

But how can I get the other tenants to keep their bargains? Most are on relief. They get monthly checks for rent and food allowances. The landlord does not get a direct check from the government as they are supposed to be self-sufficing and pay their own bills.

Well, try to get it. They know they can't be kicked out easily, so the money goes for anything from liquor to bookies, to payment of back bills to loan sharks who might get tough. I know these people don't get much and sometimes they need the rent money to feed and clothe their families. In that case, I'll wait, but how do you protect yourself from the leeches?

There ought to be a law that welfare agencies pay rent direct to landlords. We have to meet obligations. Maybe that's why tenements get so run down—we can't afford to keep them up

Dear Landlord:

If welfare agencies paid rent direct to private landlords, the bookkeeping problems might hike our taxes.

I wish I could solve your problem, but all I can say is: Choose your tenants carefully—until you can sell out and get a job as manager of a government housing project.—H.

Supt. John F. Plank has recommended the board call the election for April 14. The board must take action tomorrow night if the measure is to be voted on at that time.

Len Dawson Super Under Agonizing Pressure

By MIKE RATHET

NEW ORLEANS (AP) —"He aged five years this week. You looked into his face and you knew it wasn't the same Len Dawson."

Those words tell better than any the strain that the Kansas City quarterback lived with last week before he went out Sunday in front of a sellout crowd of 80,998 and some 50 million television viewers and led the Chiefs to a stunning 23-7 Super Bowl victory over the heavily favored Minnesota Vikings.

For those words are the words of Johnny Robinson, Dawson's longtime friend and roommate who watched his buddy turn into a solitude-seeking recluse in the cramped quarters of room 838 at the Fontainbleau Hotel during the week after reports linked his name with the nationwide gambling probe.

"Whenever I looked at him it wasn't the relaxed, easy-going Len Dawson I saw," said Robinson. "He was tense; he wanted to be in solitude. It was a tremendous pressure week for him. It was bothering him.

"There were things we would normally do he wouldn't do. He stayed in the room most of the time, even when some friends wanted to take us out. He only left to attend the daily conferences for the press and one night we went out about 9:30 for a couple dozen Louisiana oysters and a steam bath.

"He had some important things to think about."

Dawson thought both about the stories he saw in the newspapers every day following his admission that he had a "casual acquaintance" with a Detroit restaurateur arrested in connection with the gambling probe — and he thought about his wife and two children.

"Lenny was more concerned about his wife and kids back in Kansas City than himself," said Jacky Lee, the Chiefs' reserve quarterback. "They were having to put up with an awful lot of stuff. Lenny knew the public was going to read more into it than is there."

With all that on his mind, Dawson still managed to deal with the other problem he was facing—the Vikings, spending 1½ hours Saturday night going over films with Coach Hank Stram, something the two never do the night before a game. But then Dawson was having trouble remaining calm.

"I had diarrhea," Dawson admitted after the game. "I started to go to bed about 10, but I couldn't sleep. I got up about 4 and read the sports pages to see what people were saying about the game. I still couldn't sleep. I don't think I slept two hours all night.

"I guess it was a 24-hour virus."

Others will guess that Dawson's sleepless night was the result of something else, but no one who saw him perform against the Vikings in the Sugar Bowl would even have thought about what Robinson, Lee and Dawson himself revealed in the game's aftermath.

For during the 60 minutes that he was on the field, Lenny Dawson was Lenny Dawson, quarterback.

Jan Stenerud kicked field goals of 48, 32 and 25 yards and Mike Garrett scored on a five-yard run for a 16-0 halftime lead that gave every indication that the American Football League champions were heading for a stunning upset of the two-touchdown favorites.

But those 60 minutes belonged to Dawson.

And not even a denial he made to President Nixon when he talked to the White House after the game can blur the picture.

WHOLE TEAM

"Thank you, Mr. President, I really appreciate it," said Dawson in a low voice as he accepted congratulations. "But it wasn't me, sir, it was the whole team that did it."

It was the whole team that did it, but the glare of the spotlight was on Dawson's shoulders, and he responded.

He was almost as perfect as a passer can be, directing the club almost flawlessly and completing 12 of 17 passes for 142 yards while winding up his performance, and the scoring, with a 46-yard touchdown throw to Otis Taylor.

He hit Garrett with a 16-yard pass and Frank Pitts with a 20-yard pass that set up Stenerud's 48-yard field goal—and it was 3-0. He hit Pitts with a 20-yarder and hit Otis Taylor with a pair of short ones that set up Stenerud's 32 yard field goal—and it was 6-0.

END AROUND

He sent Pitts scampering on an end-around maneuver that gained 19 yards and set up Stenerud's 25-yard field goal — and it was 9-0. And then he hit Taylor with a 10-yarder after a fumble recovery that set up Garrett's five-yard run—and it was 16-0.

When the Vikings closed to 16-7 on Dave Osborn's four-yard run in the third quarter, Dawson immediately went back to work and, finding Taylor breaking free down the right sideline, hit him with the touchdown pass—and it was 23-7.

And Dawson and the Chiefs had it all—redemption for their 35-10 loss to the Green Bay Packers in the first Super Bowl game and the honor of winning this fourth and final Super Bowl game that will be played between purely AFL and NFL teams.

When the pro football season resumes next year the structure will have changed and the 10 AFL teams who fought the NFL for players and prestige will be joined by Baltimore, Cleveland and Pittsburgh to form the American Conference in the new nomenclature of the sport.

But the record book will always show that the four-game series between the leagues ended 2-2—Green Bay winning the first two over Kansas City and Oakland before the New York Jets ended the myth of NFL superiority with a 16-7 victory over Baltimore last year.

And it will show that the Chiefs completely dominated play, never allowing the Vikings to penetrate inside their 40-yard line during the first half when Kansas City was putting 16 points on the scoreboard. And it will show that this was an extremely physical game in which the Chiefs had more power than Minnesota in the lines.

And, finally, the record will show that this was, indeed, another game where AFL-NFL confrontation brought emotions to a fever pitch, at least on the Kansas City side of the field.

"The heck with the money," said defensive end Jerry Mays, referring to the $15,000 each member of the team will receive. And then he pointed to a 10-year patch the Chiefs wore on their uniforms and said:

"The proudest thing I have is that sticker. We've been humiliated. We've taken some rough barbs. We've been called the Mickey Mouse League. I'd just like to shake hands now with all those people who said all those things and now I'd like to just say 'thank you.'

"No matter what you do, no matter what you say—it's the big ones that count."

RAIDER SPEAKS

In the delirium that was the Kansas City dressing room while Robinson talked about Dawson and Mays talked about the meaning of the game, a man walked in who was on the outside when the league was formed—Wayne Valley, now one of three controlling owners of the Oakland Raiders.

In 1960 when the AFL was formed, the same Minnesota group that now owns the Vikings came into the new league as a charter member and then, before ever fielding a team, defected to the NFL. At that point, Oakland replaced Minnesota in the AFL line-up.

Valley's Raiders had the best record in the AFL this year but were beaten by the Chiefs in the AFL championship game, and now he was trying to squeeze into the Kansas City dressing room to offer the congratulations that might have been his.

"This victory," he said with a satisfied grin as he lit a cigar, "proves Joe Namath and the guys weren't flukes last year.

"Those other guys (the NFL) have got a lot of catching up to do."

Chiefs Won't Get Fat, Lazy On Banquet Trail

No worry about the Kansas City Chiefs fattening up and growing lazy around the winter banquet circuit as is the sad plight of most super duper champions in the sports world.

You know how it is, you win something big and every organization in the country wants to feed you cold chicken and peas and have you say a few words to the $100 a plate diners. You spend a winter like that and you're never the same again. It's the whammy of all champs.

But the Chiefs won't fall into that rut. Under Coach Hank Stram they are noted as the best physically prepared team in professional sports.

They'll have only about a month to relax and bask in the sunshine of their Super Bowl triumph. For next month--as they have been doing under Stram for years--the Chiefs will embark on a conditioning program that will include working with weights and a lot of running. When they check into training camp next summer they will be in a mid-season physical form.

Some Winter Rules To Follow

Reg Carolan of Novato, a member of the Chiefs, although he sat out the season with a leg injury, said Stram gives the players a set of winter rules to follow.

"But," I butted, "he'll be in Kansas City and you'll be in Novato. Won't you be tempted to fudge a little?

"Heck no," said the articulate tight end. "Every player is on his honor to follow the program.When we report to camp we'd better be in shape because Stram would know immediately those who didn't follow his rule. We're always ready and we take pride in our condition. I run a mile three times a week and work all the time on weights all winter long.

"We've had a problem of peaking too early in the season. This year, we had a mid-season letdown but came back strong."

You can say that again.

Carolan will return to his San Marin home this week, about $11,000 richer as the result of Kansas City's triumph--or, as an injured player, half of a share. He picked up $7,500 yesterday and $3500 the previous Sunday in the AFL title game.

The Al Hirt Special On TV

Yesterday's telecast of the Super Bowl looked more like the "Al Hirt Special," starring Pat O'Brien who talks a good anthem, Marguerite Piazza and a cast of thousands.

You might say the halftime producer tried to upstage the football game. For example, they had two balloons scheduled to engage in a race. One didn't get off the ground: THE OTHER CRASHED INTO THE STANDS. Well, back to rehearsals.

They reached the Battle of New Orleans and almost obliterated the field with smoke. I think the wrong side won.

Hirt tried to blow his horn louder than Miss Piazza could sing. And succeeded.

The Southern University marching band presented something described as "The Super Bowl Step-you've got to see it to believe it." Actually, it was nothing new. My little boy does it every time he has to go to the potty.

They also staged a mock jazz funeral, a Mardi Gras and, incidentally, a football game titled, "The Battle of Big Horn." The Chiefs won this one too. Or, rather, they tied Mr. Hirt's big horn by blowing the Vikes out of the stadium.

Oddsmakers Take Beating Again

The oddsmakers also took a beating for the second consecutive year. They had the Vikes favored by 13 points and by halftime were 29 points wrong.

President Nixon got telephonitis again by calling the Kansas City dressing room. Last year he called Texas and the Moon. Id like to see his bill.

The TV cameras also showed former vice president Hubert Humphrey in familiar surroundings: The Vikings' dressing room.

One final thought. Kansas City's convincing triumph yesterday makes all the Oakland excuses after the Raiders lost to the Chiefs last week look a little silly. The Chiefs have learned to win the big ones. The Raiders, for the past two years, have not quite mastered that mark of a true champ.

SUPER BOWL'S BIG PLAY

NEW ORLEANS (AP) —Alan Page got caught cheating and the Minnesota Vikings got caught on the short end of a 16-0 halftime score in Sunday's Super Bowl because of a perfectly executed play 5½ minminutes before intermission.

Mike Garret squirted five yards up the middle to score a touchdown on the play, giving the Chiefs control of the game.

Kansas City delivered the knockout punch at the end of the third quarter when Otis Taylor pulled in a short pass from Lenny Dawson, broke two tackles and rumbled 46 yards to score the last touchdown in the Chiefs' 23-7 decision over the Vikings for pro football's richest plumb.

"The biggest play was the touchdown run of Garrett," Minend, was supposed to be the nesota Coach Bud Grant said.

ALWAYS RUN

"When they're inside the five-yard line, they run 100 per cent of the time. They haven't passed from there yet, so we shouldn't have been surprised. Yet he scored.

"I wish we could have made them settle for a field goal. Field goals won't beat us."

The Vikings may have been looking for a run because of the Chiefs' predictability in the close-yardage situation, but they weren't looking for the play Kansas City called.

"It's something we've had, but we haven't run very often in that situation," Chiefs Coach Hank Stram said.

It is called the 65 Toss Power Trap in the Chiefs' terminology, and is designed to spring the halfback, Garrett, up the middle by trapping the defensive right end.

PAGE CUT DOWN

Jim Marshall, the Vikings' the end was supposed to be the man trapped, but Page got cut down by Mo Moorman's block instead because he was there.

"Our left tackle (Jim Tyrer) pulls to the outside, influencing the real (Marshall)," Stram said. "Then, we trap him (Marshall) from the inside out (with Moorman)."

What actually happened on the play, however, was that Page cheated to the outside, and he was the man in the Vikings' defensive line who took the bait as Tyrer pulled.

"I got wiped out," Page said of the block Moorman leveled him with. "I should have been more inside conscious, but I was cheating to the outside."

The other key block in the play was delivered on Vikings' middle linebacker Lonnie Warwick by Chiefs' tight end Fred Arbanas. "I've never been hit any harder than Arbanas hit me," Warwick said.

NEAT PATH

The result of the blocks by Moorman and Arbanas left a neat path through the middle of the Vikings' defense for Garrett. "All I had to do was run through the hole," he said.

"It had to be a very critical play for us," Stram said. "It gave us a big lift, getting the touchdown instead of a fourth field goal."

Stram also cited Taylor's touchdown run with the short pass as the game's other deciding play. "It was a great individual effort on Otis' part," Stram said. "We figured we could throw in front of their cornerbacks and gain yardage, but Otis turned that into a touchdown play."

Taylor fended off the tackle of Earsell Mackbee at the Minnesota 35-yard line, then ran over Karl Kassulke at the Vikings' 16.

"That run knocked us out of the game," Grant said. "It prevented us from any further comeback."

QUOTES

Len Prayed He'd Play Good Game

Some Super Bowl quotes:

LEN DAWSON, Kansas City quarterback: "I just prayed to the Good Lord that I'd have the strength and courage to play a good game."

JOE KAPP, Minnesota quarterback: "Kansas City's defensive line was like a redwood forest. They took the running game away from us. We went into the game wanting to run the ball, and they were able to take it all away with great defensive play."

MICK TINGELHOFF, Minnesota center: "They just outplayed us and were better team."

JOE FOSS,commissioner in the AFL'S infancy before its merger with the NFL: "Hell, maybe we shouldn't have merged."

BUD GRANT, Minnesota coach: "We played a great football team. They beat us. It's as simple as that. They came up with the big play, didn't fumble, moved the ball when they had to and were not hurt by the interceptions. The big thing was the fact that we couldn't come up with the big play when we had to. That's what got us here, but we couldn't do it today."

HANK STRAM Kansas City coach: "Really, whatever we do is because I believe in it. I'm not trying to sell it to anybody, but I just feel good about the fact that whatever we do we do with one purpose, . . . and that's to win."

Defensive Gem: Marin Tars Win

Holding Solano Junior College to only 14 first half points, College of Marin Tars went on to whip the Vallejo cagers 62-42 Saturday night in Kentfield.

The victory gave Marin a 2-1 Camino Norte Conference record, with two games on this week's schedule. Wednesday the Tars move to Redwood City for an 8 o'clock date with Canada College and then Saturday night host conference favorite Contra Costa College of San Pablo.

Forward Bob Tait was high scorer for the Tars Saturday with 10 points, while Pat Schafer, playing less than half the game because of illness, scored nine points. Marin hit 53 per cent from the floor.

SOLANO—Chriss, 4-3-11; Bohannon, 6-0-12; J. Roemmich, 5-2-12; Gonzales, 1-2-4; Brown, 1-1-3. Totals: 17-8—42.

Outlook Cloudy For Savings And Loans

By ROGER E. SPEAR

Q—Now that savings and loan institutions can pay 6 per cent interest, do you think the group is attractive for investors looking for growth?—W.W.

A—Unfortunately the permission to increase interest rates was highly qualified. The new 6 per cent rate on special housing certificates of deposit applies only to accounts of $10,000 or more which were in existence prior to Dec. 15, 1969. The certificates carry two-to five-year maturities and no more than 20 per cent of an institution's deposits may be converted to this form. However, attracting new money—to which the increased rate does not apply—in addition to retaining present deposits is the prime concern for savings and loans.

In October, following the third-quarter interest credits, withdrawals outweighed deposits by just under $600 million on a nationwide basis. With final-quarter interest declarations, bankers are seriously concerned that January outflow will create a new problem.

As withdrawals increase S & L's turn to the Home Loan Bank for advances which are available at 7.25 to 7.5 per cent. The rate on these advances is expected to reach 8 per cent by year end.

Savings and loans finance 60 per cent of the nation's residential housing, generally charging 1.5 per cent above the interest rate paid for Federal Home Loan Bank advances. Thus the outlook for an even tighter and costlier mortgage market is almost assured.

An interesting sidelight is the ambivalent position of the Home Loan Bank. This is one of the federal agencies whose 8.7 per cent rate on short-term notes has created the very disintermediation problem with which the associations are grappling.

Whether or not our nation avoids a housing crisis is directly and intimately tied to a rapid and equitable solution of the mounting squeeze on savings and loan associations.

In 1968 Congress set a goal of 2.6 million housing units to be built annually as the minimum necessary to avoid a crisis. The annualized building rate by year end was below 1.3 million units, as a result of federal economic gamesmanship. I would be very cautious at this time in this particular group.

58 Million Crossings On Bay Span

SAN FRANCISCO (AP) — There were 58,854,052 vehicle crossings over the San Francisco-Oakland Bay Bridge in 1969, the California Toll Bridge Authority reported Sunday. The total was highest in history for the bridge.

Altogether, state-owned toll bridges showed a 4.2 per cent increase in traffic over 1968 with 110,990,571 reported crossings.

Individual bridge traffic for the year at these bridges:

Carquinez—15,946,544

Benicia-Martinzez—8,862,999

San Mateo-Hayware—8,688,512

Richmond-San Rafael—6,102,222

Dumbarton—3,936,238

Vincent Thomas — 5,454,394

San Diego-Coronado — 3,145,610.

Chrysler Shifts Two Executives

DETROIT (BW) — John J. Riccardo, president of Chrysler Corp., has announced the appointment of Eugene A. Cafiero as group vice president--U.S. and Canadian Automotive.

Cafiero, 43,who has been serving as vice president - Latin America since 1968, succeeds Riccardo who was elected president of the company on Jan. 8.

Riccardo also announced that a Newton Cole, vice president--Far East and Africa, will assume the responsibility for Latin American operations in addition to his current duties.

British Gold, Dollar Reserves Take Upswing

LONDON (UPI) — Britain's gold and dollar reserves ended the year on a rising note. They gained $24 million in December to stand at $2.527 billion, the treasury has reported.

It was the tenth month in 1969 in which the country's reserves had climbed.

The improvement in the reserves came after Britain made payments to the United States and Canada of $264 million to service postwar debts and after receiving $175.2 million from the International Monetary Fund (IMF).

Repayments of short term debts to overseas central (government) banks are not disclosed.

Britain's strong foreign trade position helped the gains in the reserves. Foreign funds have also moved back to London and helped the pound's steady advance in December on foreign exchange markets.

The pound burst through its official parity of $2.40 for the first time in 20 months near the end of December and yesterday was changing hands at $2.4006 after news of the still higher reserves. The markets had been expecting this sort of improvement.

On Thursday the government also announced its decision to abolish the $120 per year limit for foreign currency for Britons taking overseas vacations. This move underlined the pound's better health and had already helped to push the stock market higher.

The treasury also announced that it had received its initial allocation of special drawing rights (SDRS) or "paper gold" as arranged at the annual meeting of the International Monetary Fund last October. This amounted to $410 million.

Pan Am's December Mileage Shows Drop

NEW YORK (BW)--Pan American World Airways flew 1,077 million revenue passenger miles in December 1969, down 1.6 per cent from the same month in 1968. Cargo ton miles flown were 49,423,000, down two-tenths of one per cent.

For the year 1969 passenger miles increased 3.5 per cent and cargo ton miles showed a drop of slightly less than one-tenth percent.

Enemark Tells Realty Men Of Nation's Lack Of Liquidity

With fewer predictions for the next 12 months than he usually gives in his annual address on money matters, FRED ENEMARK, executive vice president of MARIN COUNTY SAVINGS AND LOAN ASSOCIATION, told members of the Marin County Real Estate Board this week that there is an unprecedented shortage of liquidity in every part of our economy.

He cited three ways in which this shortage can be rebuilt: By increasing it through federal market operations; or continuing to slow down the economy (not decrease it.

Although Enemark's predictions often have been exceptionally accurate, he admitted we are just now getting the impact of the slowdown that he predicted a year ago would occur during the first six months of 1969. "The economy simply refused to bow to the tremendous pressures submitted to the money market," he explained. "But inflationary psychology is now weakening."

Enemark believes that with the proper application of fiscal and monetary restraint it is possible to avoid the full scale recession into which some forecasters say we are headed, but he warned that the process of arriving at an economical balance may not be pleasant and may extend beyond 1970.

He sees as contributing factors to this delay the fact that this is an election year "in which each party will do its best to make the other look foolish" — also that "labor is marching to an entirely different pace" in its requests for wage increases, more holidays, longer vacations, shorter hours, longer weekends and more say in the amount of its own production. All this, he claims, will only bring higher costs and prices.

Reflecting on spiraling costs and increases in real estate prices over the past 10 years, Enemark advised forgetting past figures as a standard of measurement. "The past will never come back," he declared.

UNITED FARM AGENCY has opened a Marin real estate office on Highway 1 just south of the Sir Francis Drake Highway intersection at Olema.

Former restauranteur CLAY WRIGHT of Olema is in charge.

NEWLY APPOINTED general agent in San Rafael for JOHN HANCOCK MUTUAL LIFE INSURANCE CO. is GARY A. merly in charge of Boothe's bro-

Bramon McArthur

BRAMON. He joined the company in 1964 as a special representative in Sacramento. Since 1967 he has been manager of a Modesto unit of the Sacramento general agency.

JAMES D. McARTHUR of Tiburon is vice president and general manager of a newly organized firm, Dataware Marketing, Inc., a wholly owned subsidiary of Boothe Computer Corp., which markets computer related products. He was forkerage division and has been with the company since 1967. Previously he was with the data processing of IBM Corp. in Los Angeles.

HOWARD FRIEDMAN of San Anselmo has been appointed to the newly created position of special assistant to the president of the KORACORP CORP. MEN'S UNICENTER. He became national marketing manager in 1968 and assumed the Koratron Co. presidency in early 1968.

JOSEPH HILDRETH of San Rafael has opened JOE'S BARBER SHOP AND MEN'S HAIR STYLING SALON in the Essex Building at 412 Red Hill Avenue, San Anselmo. He formerly owned the Gay Nineties Barber shop and also the Hub City Barber Shop.

Stocks Fall Sharply In Light Action

NEW YORK (UPI)—Stocks fell sharply today in light turnover.

"Recent reinvestment demand has moved off to the sidelines," said Monte Gordon, vice president of Bache & Co. brokerage.

Gordon added "the market has been hoping for an easing of tight credit conditions," but said he believes any significant change in policy still is several months away.

A turnover of around 8,300,000 shares was running about 1 million shares behind Friday's pace.

Analysts said pressure in part reflected a statement by the Federal Reserve Bank of New York that tight money policies must be maintained because "the risk of prolonged, if not worsened, inflation is far more serious than the risk of recession."

Electronic, chemical and copper shares encountered the most selling pressure, although point-sized losers were sprinkled throughout the list.

Lum's Inc., a heavily traded stock, was on the losing side. The restaurant franchising firm said fiscal second quarter earnings will be lower than was estimated earlier.

Litton also attracted selling pressure in heavy turnover, although a spokesman for the firm said he knew of no reason for the active trading or lower price. Litton lost 1 1-2 before the close.

American Telephone & Telegraph was traded actively. It closed down 3-8 at 49 3-4.

Other active stocks included Itek Corp., Coastal States Gas, and Schlitz Brewing. The latter reported record sales for 1969. Before the close, Itek gained 2. Coastal States was up 1-2, and Schlitz lost 2 3-4.

Analysts said the copper group attracted some profit taking after recent sizable gains which stemmed from widespread industry price advances. Before the close, Consolidated lost 3 1-4, Copper Range was down 2 3-4 and Kennecott lost 1 1-4. President Nixon has ordered a study of pricing policies in the copper industry.

ALMANAC

Today is Monday Jan. 12, the 12th day of 1970 with 353 to follow.

The moon is new. The morning stars are Venus and Jupiter. The evening stars are Mercury, Mars and Saturn.

On this day in history:

In 1865 Confederate President Jefferson Davis met with an emissary of President Lincoln at Richmond, Va., to discuss Civil War peace terms.

In 1932 Mrs. Hattie Caraway, widow of an Arkansas congressman, became the first woman ever elected to the United States Senate.

In 1943 the Office of Price Administration ordered frankfurters to be replaced by "victory sausage," a combination of meat and soybean meal.

In 1968 Gov. Geroge Romney of Michigan opened his New Hampshire primary campaign against Richard Nixon. Romney later withdrew from the presidential race.

A thought for the day: Norman MacLeod said, "Courage, brother do not stumble though the path be dark as night. There's a star to guide the humble, trust in God and do the right."

Post-Graduate Course Offered On The Art Of Not Finessing

Everybody who studies finesses should take a post-graduate course in the art of not finessing. The first lesson in such a course deals with the sort of hand in which you're in no great hurry to develop a trick.

JACK OF DIAMONDS

West opens the jack of diamonds, and you are grateful that he has attacked your strongest suit. You'd have been even more pleased if West had led a club, since then you'd have been sure of nine tricks; but that would have spoiled my story.

You have eight tricks in top cards and all the time in the world to develop your ninth trick. If you're in a hurry to catch a train you might take an immediate finesse with the queen of clubs, but you'll board your train poorer and no wiser. West wins with the king of clubs, and then you can't develop a ninth trick in either clubs or diamonds.

HOW TO BEGIN

If you're in no such hurry, take the first diamond with the ace and play a low club from each hand. Perhaps the king will appear on this trick.

In the actual hand, East wins and returns the queen of hearts. You win and lead the ace of clubs. The king does appear, and you have no further problems.

If the king did not appear on the second round of clubs you would get to dummy safely to return a club toward your Q-3. If the club finesse was ever going to work, East will have to play his king; and your queen will eventually win a trick.

NEVER WORKS

If West has the king of clubs, the finesse was never going to work, and there could be no advantage in taking it. You lose your queen of clubs, but you still have the chance to win a trick with the three of clubs if the suit breaks evenly.

The main point is to delay playing your queen as long as you can in the hope that the king will show up before you have to commit yourself.

DAILY QUESTION

Partner opens with one spade, and the next player doubles.

You hold:

♠ J 10 6 3
♥ Q J 10 7
♦ 7
♣ J 10 9 7

What do you say?

ANSWER: Bid three spades.

This is a shutout bid, promising only good trump support of four or more cards with a total count of about seven to nine points. In this case you count five points in high cards and three points for the singleton. Despite the weakness of your hand you might double the opponents if they get to four hearts or to five clubs.

HOW TO KEEP WELL

By DR. THEODORE R. VAN DELLEN

Baby Who Cries By The Clock Can Have Nothing Wrong At All

VAN DELLEN

Certain normal infants will fuss and cry at approximately the same time of the day or night. Thereafter, they are content, indicating that all is well.

Colic or other forms of discomfort frequently are blamed, and the crib is rocked, or the tyke is cuddled, talked to, patted, or nursed.

According to Dr. Louis M. Harley of Detroit, the baby wants attention. The mother accommodates him for various reasons. The people next door may pound on the walls or ceiling whenever the baby cries.

Too much attention may be the problem. Some parents sit near the crib for hours at a time admiring their offspring. Still others keep junior in the kitchen throughout most of the day.

In both instances, the infant is getting too much attention and cries when left alone.

But in most instances the mother misinterprets the real reason for crying.

She is positive that baby has excessive gas, has eaten too much, or has an allergy to milk. The mother is convinced especially when the child turns blue and has a hard abdomen, or cold feet.

Now and then an enema or laxative is given to relieve the colic.

Harley has examined many of these babies during a crying spell. Initial X-rays of the abdomen may reveal very little gas, but a repeat film taken after the crying ceases may reveal considerable gaseous distention. In other words, the distention was not the cause but followed the swallowing of air when crying or nursing.

The problem may solve itself by the end of three months. But best results are obtained with sedatives to quiet the child. Now and then the mother needs the same remedy, especially when she feels inadequate and incompetent because she cannot quiet her wailing infant.

TIGHT HEEL CORDS

Mrs. D. R. writes: Our 1-year-old son has tight heel cords and cannot stand flat. We are using braces at night to lengthen these cords. What could have caused this condition?

REPLY

Many children are born with imperfections of one kind or another. Unless a short tendon Achilles runs in your family, this must be a developmental defect. The cause of the latter is not known except that something happened at the time this part of your boy's anatomy was being formed.

CANDIED GARLIC

D. O. writes: Do chocolate-covered garlic pills improve the memory?

REPLY

Ugh! No, and the chocolate won't hide the smell of garlic. Glutamic acid and Ritalin are said to improve memory in older folks. An experimental drug, Ribaminol, has also been used for this purpose.

KISSING BABIES

Mrs. T. H. writes: I object to aunts, uncles, and cousins kissing my baby on the mouth. Am I being too persnickety?

REPLY

No. I thought everyone knew kissing and infant on the mouth is taboo. Your physician may be able to straighten out your relatives on this point if you have been unsuccessful.

SMOKE IS SMOKE

D. S. writes: Is cigar smoking (not inhaling) less hazardous than cigaret smoking (inhaling)?

REPLY

Yes, in that the incidence of lung cancer and heart disease is higher in those who inhale. The number of cigarets smoked daily also is important.

Question on medical topics will be answered by mail if stamped, self-addressed envelope accompanies request to the I-J.

Sikh's Beard Costs Him Ambulance Job

LONDON (AP) — This week a Sikh was rejected for a job with the London Ambulance Service. Among the reasons: his beard might hamper him in giving some patient the kiss of life.

His local Community Relations Council said it was collecting all the facts so that in due course a dossier could go to the complaints desk of the Race Relations Board.

Such incidents are commonplace as Britain tries to absorb the postwar immigration from the West Indies, India, Pakistan and Kenya.

The Sikh's problem is fairly typical. His religion prescribes uncut hair, shielded by a turban, his beard as long as it will grow.

London ambulancemen are cleanshaven for "practical reasons," the ambulance authority says. It suggested that difficulty and unpleasantness could be experienced if a bearded ambulanceman was called on to give mouth-to-mouth resuscitation. Besides the nature of his work exposed him to infection, so personal hygiene was easier for the beardless. Lastly, a violent mental patient might tug him by the beard.

The authority was willing to accept a turbaned ambulance attendant provided the turban was kept neat. Several public transport officials have reluctantly done the same.

"We are not getting at this man because he is a Sikh," a spokesman for the Greater London Council said.

Other immigrants from India and Pakistan have run into trouble because of their native customs.

Five Moslem girls were kept away from classes at a Staffordshire school because the headmaster banned their wearing of traditional trousers, called shalwar. In Peterborough, 64 Pakistanis forfeited pay for taking time off to celebrate the ending of Ramadan, the Moslem holy month.

The Community Relations Board, set up in 1968, aims at breaking down intolerance and prejudice by encouraging cooperation among ethnic groups. It has an annual budget of $720,000, less than the government subsidy to the Royal Opera House. The money goes mainly for salaries of a headquarters staff and nearly 50 full-time community relations officers scattered about the country.

The commission's annual report judged 10 per cent of Britain's population were prejudiced and 17 per cent more inclined that way.

Husband Kills Wife Himself

LONG BEACH (AP) — A man married only two months shot his bride to death in the bedroom of their new home and then committed suicide after telling his stepson to call police, officers report.

Police were summoned to the home of Stuart H. Wakefield, 39, by neighbors Sunday evening. Carolyn Wakefield, 27, was lying on the bed, shot through the chest, police said.

Her children from a previous marriage, Billy, 7, and Crissie, marriage, Billy, 7, and Crissie, 3, told officers the couple had not been quarreling.

Cleaver's Wife, Son Fail To Show

SAN FRANCISCO (UPI)— The wife and infant son of Black Panther leader Eldridge Cleaver disappointed a reception committee early Sunday by remaining in Algiers with her fugitive husband.

Emory Douglas, minister of culture for the Panthers, returned to the U.S. but told waiting newsmen Mrs. Kathleen Cleaver and her son, Maceo, cancelled their tickets shortly before takeoff from the Algerian capital. Douglas said he did not know their reasons.

Housewife Attacked At Point Of Knife

A 15-year-old Marin City housewife was raped Friday by an acquaintance who threatened her with a pocket knife, Sheriff's deputies said today.

The girl told officers that the man called at her apartment to pick up money she owed him. He pulled out a five-inch knife and forcibly assaulted her, she said. Then he fled 10 minutes before her husband arrived home.

TELEVISION IN REVIEW

Regis Philbin Returns With Best Talk Show

By RICK DU BROW

HOLLYWOOD (UPI)—One of the problems of television's network programming is that there is such pressure on performers to deliver big—for the ratings—that they rarely have a chance to show their graceful sides.

Every minute counts. Every remark counts. The tempo is high-powered. And therefore almost everthing is unnatural. Because in natural settings, there are natural ebbs and flows of personality, of conversation, of everything. And when somehow this naturalness happens—when the impersonality of the home screen is overcome—thers is a sort of satisfying wonder on the part of viewers. Because this is what video is really all about.

Regis Philbin now has a 90-minute off-network show in which celebrities from different fields meet and talk about a table. It is called "Philbin's People," and there is very often good conversation and rapport, and it takes some adjustment to realize just how good the show is because in the immediate past Philbin had to play patsy to Joey Bishop on the ABC-TV late-night series.

Bishop would make with the jokes, and Philbin did his best, but since he was the handiest patsy he was often the butt of the gags. This builds a kind of image for a fellow. In addition, ABC apparently once wanted to dump Philbin from the now-defunct Bishop series, and Regis quit dramatically but finally came back after a talk with Bishop.

Well, now the network period is—at least temporarily—gone for Philbin. And I hope you get a chance to watch "Philbin's People." The outing I saw in Los Angeles this past weekend was one of the best talk shows I have ever seen on television.

Larkspur Burglary Charge Is Denied

James Andrew Franz, 18, of Larkspur, pleaded innocent Friday in Marin Municipal Court to burglary of a Larkspur home Tuesday. Preliminary hearing was set for Tuesday.

Franz, who is awaiting trial also on another burglary charge, suffered a broken ankle, cuts and bruises when he reportedly jumped from a deck of a residence at 170 Piedmont Court. He was arrested when he appeared at a fire station asking for first aid.
